Cries "WHOA!" TO HIS AUTO.

Two Persons are Injured in the Resultant Accident at Indianapolis.

[DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 27.—Forgetting that he was driving an automobile today, August Volquenne commanded "Whoa!" to his machine as he swerved around a corner and struck a large touring car, turning the car completely over in the side ditch and probably seriously injuring two of the occupants, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Riddle of Albany. Riddle's side was crushed and he is believed to be hurt internally, and Mrs. Riddle is believed to have suffered a fractured skull. They were caught under the machine, the woman being severely cut by glass from the windshield. Volquenne escaped without a scratch although his machine is a wreck. Volquenne has had the automobile only a short time and it was his second collision with an automobile. Several days ago he ran into a machine while at Muncie under similar circumstances, yelling "Whoa!" at his machine.

REPLY TO THE POPE IS EXPECTED THIS WEEK.

The Conviction Grows that the Holy Father has Offered a Basis of Negotiations.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 27.—Secretary of State Lansing admitted today that President Wilson's reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposals would go forward to the Vatican within a few days.

Nothing regarding the contents of the note was permitted to escape from the State Department which, it is understood, is preparing it for transmission to Rome.

It was asserted, however, that the reply to the Vatican will in no wise be affected by answers of the Central Powers and that this government is not waiting for the enemy replies to be sent before forwarding American's answer.

ALSACE-LORRAINE.

American officials have no information regarding reports that the German government is willing to erect Alsace-Lorraine into an independent federal state, it was asserted. It was indicated that the American public might not be informed for a day or so after the dispatch of President Wilson's note that it has gone.

The impression grows here that President Wilson has taken advantage of the note to make another effort to influence the German people against their autocratic government. Officials here were said still to feel that the master minds behind the conduct of the German war are Gens. Ludendorff and von Hindenburg, and that Chancellor Michaelis is a mere figurehead, incapable of following a course contrary to their desires, or not daring to do so.

A GUESS.

The American note, it is said, while rejecting the peace terms will indorse some of the basic features of the Pope's plan, particularly the proposal of the disarmament and making guarantee against future war a preliminary to any peace agreements.

Officials of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, in international pacifist organization, said to have members in all the belligerent and neutral countries, sent a letter to the President today urging him to accept the Pope's proposals as "the basis for beginning negotiations."

The letter was signed by Gilbert A. Beaver of Philadelphia, chairman; Edward H. Evans, Philadelphia; and Rev. Herman Thomas of the American Parish, New York, secretary.

DESIRE FOR PEACE.

"We know how deep is your desire to secure peace which rests not upon overwhelming physical force, but upon good will," said the letter. How can America better exemplify her great ideals, than by willingness to accept the Pope's proposals as a basis for beginning negotiations? We are not urging them as an ideal, or final statement, but as a recognition of that new and truly Christain spirit which, rather than any mere readjustment of national boundaries, can give us peace. They are inspired by the same ideas which inspired your own historic address to the Senate.

"The Pope has declared for moral force and for disarmament, for negotiations and judicial settlement; as the way to determine the fate of disputed territories. Surely this is remote from Pan-German dreams and the aggressive designs of Prussian junkers. Disarmament would be the death of Prussian imperialism and the beginning of new life for democracy."

ANOTHER VERSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Signs were in evidence today of the dispatch of President Wilson's reply to the peace proposals of Pope Benedict at an early date. Officials freely conceded the probability of the early completion of the com-

How They Got Across.

With the Italian army.

The upper photo shows one of the foot bridges the Italian troops threw across the Isonzo River to enable them to cross that vicious mountain stream and get after the Austrians on the other side in the engagement that is reported to have netted them the most spectacular victory of the war. The lower photo shows a group of Italian sharpshooters aiming at an airplane hovering over the beautiful city of Venice. Venice has frequently been the object of Austrian air raids and special precautions have been taken by the Italians to protect the art treasures of the city from destruction.

The Great War.

DESPERATE BATTLE IS STILL IN PROGRESS.

Cadorna's Men Meet New Resistance, but are Breaking Through the Reinforcements.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 27.—Eleven Austrian army divisions have been decimated in Gen. Cadorna's sweep along the Isonzo front, according to advices received at the Italian Embassy today in official advices from the government at Rome. The dispatch stated that the Italians had captured Monte Santo and have thus paved the way for the capture of the two important hill positions of San Gabriele and San Daniele. More than 20,000 Austrian prisoners have been taken and others are being brought in.

FROM THE DISPATCH.

"The capture of Monte Santo," says the dispatch to the embassy, "means the Gorizia is at last freed of the enemy artillery fire, which has been constant for the past year, although the Italian population of the city never evacuated it. After the capture of Monte Santo, the fall of San Gabriele and San Daniele is inevitable, and it is expected soon, as both important hills are now dominated by the Italian artillery on Monte Santo. The Austrian higher command exhibits great perplexity concerning the objectives of the Italian offensive. The heavier Austrian guns have been removed to the rear toward Chiapovano to avoid their eventual capture under the Italian artillery fire.

"The Italian infantry advances continuously, fighting every step of the way. Some of the Italian brigades have been fighting three days and nights continuously without respite, notwithstanding the warm season and scarcity of water. The Italian troops say that it is their duty and opportunity to assist in saving the liberty of Europe in the present moment. The enemy is still retiring in some sectors in front of the increased and very strong Italian pressure. The battle is still progressing with the same intensity that has characterized it from the beginning. The men are renewed very frequently, and the Austrians who have tried to defend themselves with machine guns are bringing into their lines reserves taken from other fronts, and this, of course, is of great benefit to the Russians.

"Eleven Austrian divisions have been decimated. The prisoners now taken by the Italians number 20,000 and more are still coming in. Several of the sixty Austrian guns captured by the Italians are already being used against the enemy positions. The Austrian official communiques have been very reserved. The Vienna bulletin of Thursday admitted explicitly the falling back of the Austrian army on the north of Gorizia, and against it the Italian 2nd and Army Corps is tenaciously advancing. The impetuosity of the Italian attack has not only broken, but has also brought great destruction to the Austrian lines. The total number of Austrians put out of combat since the offensive was begun exceeds 40,000, including prisoners, dead and disabled. The Giornal-e d'Italia publishes a telegram from the front written by the former Minister, Parallel, containing two words only: 'Cose Magnifici' (wonderful things.) The brevity and confidence emphasizes the imminence of portentous happenings on the Austro-Italian front."

NEW RESISTANCE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Aug. 27 (British Admiralty, per Wireless Press.)—A desperate battle is in progress on the Bainsizza plateau, on the front north of Gorizia, it is announced officially. The resistance of the Austrians has been overcome at various points.

The announcement follows:

"On the Bainsizza plateau the intensity of the struggle has increased with the extreme desperation of the enemy who, by the greater employment of forces, is seeking to prevent us from progressing towards the eastern extremity of the plateau. Our troops are resolutely facing the new resistance of the enemy and have overcome it at various points.

"We took more than 500 prisoners yesterday. Our airplanes, by effective and repeated bombardments, sowed destruction in the interior of the enemy lines, increasing the disorder which reigned there on account of the hurried retreat."

AUSTRIANS RETURE.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—It was reported from Austrian headquarters today that the Austrian troops who were fighting to the north of Gorizia on the Isonzo front have now retired, says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

Clamps.

TIGHTENS THE CONTROL OF FOREIGN EXPORTS.

Proclamation of Wilson to Prevent Any of Our Supplies Reaching the Foe.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—President Wilson tightened the government's control of exports tonight by issuing an order forbidding the shipment of any goods to European neutral countries except under license, and by extending the lists for which license is required in shipments to the Allies and neutrals other than European countries to include cotton, all meats, sugar and most of America's other export commodities.

In a statement accompanying his proclamation the President said one of the first intentions of the government will be to see that no American products are made "the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly." Officials interpreted the order as forecasting a vigorous use of the export control as a war weapon and a policy of the strictest ration of countries contiguous to Germany.

PROHIBITION.

Exports to Germany and her allies also are formally prohibited by the President's order and this is understood to mean that the export control is about to supersede the British system of giving letters of assurance for American cargoes. Up to now there has been nothing except the British blockade to prevent the shipment of American goods to Germany. Tonight's order, in this respect, accomplishes one of the purposes sought in the trading with the enemy bill pending in Congress. Coin, bullion, currency and evidences of indebtedness are placed under export licenses to neutral nations wherever regulations governing their export have been promulgated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The President's order contains the first formal announcement of the transfer of administration of the export control from the Department of Commerce to the Export Administrative Board, of which Vance McCormick is chairman. When the administrative board made the fact public a few days ago it was explained that the action was taken to facilitate the issue of licenses.

THE PURPOSE.

Accompanying the proclamation was a statement from the President explaining its purposes. It said:

"The purpose and effect of this proclamation is not export prohibition, but merely export control. It is not the intention to interfere unnecessarily with our foreign trade, but our own domestic needs must be adequately safeguarded and there is the added duty of meeting the necessities of all the nations at war with the imperial German government.

"After these needs are met it is our intention to minister to the needs of the neutral nations as far as our resources permit. This task will be discharged without other than the very proper qualifications that the liberation of our surplus products shall not be made the occasion of benefit to the enemy, either directly or indirectly.

"The two lists have been prepared in the interest of facility and expediency. The first list, applicable to the enemy and his allies, and to the neutral countries of Europe, brings under control practically all articles of commerce, while the second list, applicable to all the other countries of the world, makes only a few additions to the list of commodities controlled by the proclamation of July 9, 1917.

"It is obvious that a closer supervision and control of exports is necessary with respect to those European neutrals within the sphere of hostilities than is required for those countries farther removed.

"The establishment of those distinctions will simplify the administrative processes and enable us to continue our policy of minimizing the interruption of trade."

THE LIMIT.

The proclamation makes it clear for the first time that the United States is prepared to go to almost any limit to prevent goods from going to Germany. Neutrals already have been informed that the United States will see to it that no American goods may be used even to replace indirectly goods shipped from neutral countries to Germany. Some administration officials even favor stopping food shipments to neutrals where the food is used to feed workmen engaged in manufacturing war materials for German use.

Assumption by the United States of the burden of maintaining the blockade of Germany, in so far as it applies to shipment of American goods, gives this nation an additional responsibility of which the British have sought to be relieved ever since the United States entered the war. The duty of preventing goods shipped from neutrals other than European from reaching Germany will continue to be Great Britain's, since the United States has declared no formal blockade against Germany or her allies.

PANIC GRIPS AUSTRIA AS ITALIAN ARMIES CRUSH TOWARD TRIESTE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Advices from Switzerland present the condition of Austria as bordering on panic.

The Italian victories have caused such alarm in Vienna that the Emperor rushed to the front and made radical changes in the high command in an unsuccessful effort to stem the tide. The Austrian press hardly ventures to discuss the military situation, despite the fact that a battle is raging on which the fate of the empire may depend.

On the heels of the barely crushed revolution in Bohemia, comes trouble in Transylvania, said to be due to the refusal of the agricultural interests to accept the official terms for the regulation and sale of their product. More definite facts are not known as Transylvania is under martial law and practically cut off from the rest of the country.

How serious agriculture's attitude throughout the empire has become may be judged from the fact that the secret economic conference between representatives of Germany and Austria-Hungary, which began August 7 and was intended to settle mutual food distribution for the winter, had to be abandoned without accomplishing anything, owing, it is stated, to universal opposition of the agrarian interests.

The failure of the peace maneuvers proved a terrible shock, as the word had gone out from the highest quarter that peace was certain almost immediately. In this connection the Emperor and Empress are said to have declared repeatedly that they were determined to avoid another winter of war at all costs.

OBSTACLES REMOVED.

Hitherto there have been two obstacles to Austrian peace: First, their refusal to abandon Trieste and Trent to Italy; secondly, fear—for any friendly feeling has disappeared—of Germany. Now Italy bids fair to settle the first difficulty, once for all. The Austrian army is reeling, and if the Italian effort can be maintained, sudden Austrian disaster may follow.

German prestige has received a well-nigh fatal blow at Verdun, and loss of the Mort Homme and Hill 304—the positions labeled by the Germans themselves as the key pivot of the western front—could not be hidden, and caused an enormous sensation.

A prominent Austrian in Berne was heard to remark, on receiving the news, that the world might come to regard Mort Homme as the beginning of the German debacle. He spoke French, and the informant cites the phrase as "Le Mort Homme est Francais mais il se peut bien que l'Homme Mort soit Allemand"—a cynical pun in which is a striking commentary on the present Austro-German relations.

INTRIGUE AT BERNE.

Berne has become the center of Austrian activities. Under the leadership of the veteran diplomat, Count Goluchowski, whose pro-Ally and anti-Prussian sentiments are not secret, there is assembled a powerful and busy group of Austrian intriguers. Highly placed personages come and go mysteriously, and one constantly hears on Austrian lips expressions of incompatibility, if not actual hostility toward Germany.

The German legation at Berne is hardly less active, and

EARNINGS OF WORKERS GAIN MORE THAN H.C.L.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Iron, steel and woolen manufacturing workers' earnings per capita for the two and a half-year period just ended increased more than the advance in retail prices of foodstuffs for the three-year period of July, 1914, to July, 1917. A statement by the Department of Labor today shows that iron and steel workers per capita earnings increased 54 per cent. and woolen manufacturing workers 45 per cent., while the cost of foodstuffs increased 42 per cent.

Workers in other industries did not fare so well. Per capita earnings of boot and shoe workers increased 31 per cent.; cotton manufacturing employees and cotton finishing workers, 38 per cent.; hosiery and underwear workers, 37 per cent., and silk workers, 35 per cent.

Workers in the iron and steel industry in the two-and-one-half-year period increased 75 per cent. in number, and the pay rolls increased 167 per cent.

CHINA'S COURSE IN WORLD WAR.

Jap Mission may Offer Plan to United States.

Chinese Must Borrow Money to Get in Fight.

Important Questions to Come up at Conference.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 27.—There is considerable speculation here regarding the part China is to play in the war, and the lack of advices from Peking and from any other belligerent source concerning the programme for China has led to the belief that to some extent the scope of the oriental republic's activities in the war will be determined by the conferences in this city between the Japanese mission and the republic of the United States.

It has been felt that two special considerations more than any other moved the American government in favoring the course China has taken towards the war. The first puts China definitely in alignment with the world's democratic nations, and the second guarantees to China a seat in the peace conference, thus affording her ample assurances that her national interests will be protected.

Inasmuch as the aid that China can give will in large part be measured by the financial assistance given her, there being only two powers, Japan and the United States, in a position to furnish monetary aid, it is believed that the subject is one of the more important ones to be discussed by the Japanese mission and this government.

The subject of a loan to China comes within the purview of the declarations of the Tokio ministry respecting an economic rapprochement between Japan and the United States. Japan regards China as being peculiarly within her sphere of interest, for reasons of national safety, as well as for those of exploitation, and it is believed Japan would desire, if not demand, to participate in any governmental loan to China.

The discussions between the mission and the government begin this week. How long they will last neither the American nor the Japanese officials know. Officially nothing has been made public concerning the probable discussions, except that no set programme has been prepared.

YANKTON (S. D.) Aug. 27.—Thirty Germans arrested near Tripp, Hutchinson county, South Dakota, this morning for an alleged violation of the espionage act were brought here this afternoon in custody of Federal officers. The men are charged with having signed a petition to Gov. Norbeck protesting against the draft and the war.

The thirty men brought here today previously had been arrested, charged with violating the espionage act, and were bound over to the Federal District Court for trial. On August 14 fifteen of the men were apprehended for signing a petition to the County Sheriff similar to the one sent to the Governor. Again, on August 21, fifteen other Germans were taken for directing a petition to the County Treasurer. All of these, it is said, were signers of the protest to the Governor.

Late this afternoon the men were arraigned before United States Commissioner R. T. White and were bound over to the Federal District Court for trial and released in bail of $5000 each.

MIKADO'S AMBASSADOR DISCLOSES HIS MISSION.

To Congratulate and to Co-operate are the Two Main Objects.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Viscount Ishii, the special Japanese Ambassador, gave to the Associated Press tonight a statement defining the purposes of his mission to the United States. Members of the mission noticed at Honolulu, at San Francisco and finally here in Washington indications that their coming might be misinterpreted by certain elements, and it was felt necessary to explain that no commercial or selfish interests were to be subserved.

The Ambassador's statement follows:

"The imperial Japanese mission came to the United States for two reasons; first, to convey to the President and to the American people the appreciation and congratulations of the Emperor and the nation of Japan for the entrance of the United States into the war as allies of Japan and the other nations now waging war against the enemies of freedom; second, to determine how best to co-operate with the United States in carrying the war to a triumphant conclusion.

"Having determined in what manner Japan can use her resources and strength to this end, it is the purpose of the mission to further aid the Allied cause by showing what she can do with the help and co-operation of the United States. Japan is entirely unselfish in her aim. We are fighting for a common end and we wish to aid in the common efforts."

The mission will discuss with the proper departments of the government matters concerning shipbuilding materials and necessaries in other lines with the fullest understanding that the use of such materials as well as the finished products will be for the use of the Allied nations. In the case of the ships made from steel supplied by the United States, assurances are to be given that they will be for Allied use alone, and will not be employed for Japanese commercial purposes after the war. These conferences will begin this week.

War Measure.

TEN NEW FIGHTING SHIPS ARE ORDERED BY JAPAN.

[BY PACIFIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

TOKIO, Aug. 27.—While Japan's war mission is holding conferences with her United States ally in Washington, Admiral Kato, Minister of Marine, today issued an order for the construction of one battleship of more than 32,000 tons at the naval arsenal at Kure; two cruisers, one of 7100 tons and the other of 5500 tons, at the naval arsenals at Sasebo and Yokosuka, respectively; two destroyers, one of 1500 tons and the other of 600 tons, at the naval arsenals at Maizuru and Sasebo, respectively, and five submarines, each of 500 tons, all at the naval arsenal at Kure.

These war vessels are to be constructed in accordance with the big programme as passed by the Diet in the recent session, to be completed during the coming seven years with an appropriation of over $300,000,000.

Considering that the war will last a long time, the Yokohama Dock Company, in which several foreigners are interested, is now contemplating a gigantic expansion scheme. When fully equipped it is said that a ship of 30,000 tons will be overhauled and repaired in this plant. In order to carry out these expansion schemes, the company is now considering increasing its capital to $10,000,000.

BRITISH SUBMARINE SENDS ENEMY U-BOAT TO BOTTOM

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 27.—The destruction of a German submarine with all hands by a British submarine in the Atlantic Ocean was described here today by the captain of a British steamer which was torpedoed by the enemy submersible. The trader, which was attacked on a voyage from this country to a British port, returned here after being repaired abroad.

According to the captain of the trader, the captain of the German submersible attacked the British merchantman by firing his deck guns when the torpedo which struck her failed to send her to the bottom.

The trader's crew, who had taken to the open boats at the arrival of the submarine and its attack on the German U-boat, which was broken in two and sunk by a torpedo from the British underseacraft, boarded their vessel again, pumped her out and reached a British port.

A Letter to Home.

A BALL GAME AT ST. CLOUD.

Ring Lardner "Covered" it Until He Got Sick.

The Grass was All Too Tall for Good Fielding.

Canadians vs. Americans on Foreign Soil.

BY RING W. LARDNER.

[BY STANDARD CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Friend Harvey—Well Harvey, they picked on me today to cover a baseball game between the American field service nine and the Canada field service nine and they said that the game would start out by St. Cloud at 2 p.m.

St. Cloud is pronounced with all the vowels and consonants silent. So I asked them how should I get there, and they says: "Take the Metro," which is French for subway, but they says, it keeps going in circles. So I hinted to a guy that I knew he had money and he finally fell and rode us out there in a taxicab.

The place we went to was some kind of a hospital and it was after 2 p.m. and they was no ball game raging, but a French general was pinning medals on a lot of guys and I thought at first they was some of the ball players, but afterwards I seen the ball players in action and then I knew better.

The ball game was across a race track. We started over, but a officer told us we couldn't cross across the track for fear of spoiling it. I wisht you could have seen it, Harvey; the grass was so long that Fred Falkenberg could have hid himself in it standing up. The American boys was practicing when we got there and it was not like they did not need it.

The game started an hour and a half later and the America team scored in the first inning, when they got the bases full up and the umpire called a fourth ball on a guy that was standing as far out of the batter's box as from here to Petrograd.

In the second inning the Canada boys sort of lit into our pitcher, a boy named Crowhurst. They says he was from Philadelphia and judging from his control I would say that he was a refugee from the Philadelphia Athletics. He had a No. 3 on the back of his sweater, but the Canada nine didn't pay no attention to that and made it four before the inning was over.

At the end of the fourth, with the score was five on each side, I got up and left on account of illness. I found out later that the game was stopped by rain at the end of the first half of the eighth. The rain came about two hours too late.

The game was probably a record-breaker in one respect—none of the fielders stonned a ground ball.

COMMONER FINDS SUPPORT FOR FLAG.

BRYAN REPORTS BIG DESIRE TO AID GOVERNMENT.

Former Secretary of State, at Chautauqua Meeting, Declares Vast Majority of Persons in this Country are Backing up President in His War Aims.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—William Jennings Bryan said today in travelling about the country he has found that the desire to support the government in the war is almost universal. Mr. Bryan came to Chicago to deliver a Chautauqua address.

"The reason why a different impression may be gained," the Nebraskan added, "is that the newspapers publish the exception rather than the rule. For instance, a dispatch may report an unpatriotic utterance by a man in some town, but nothing is said about nine hundred and ninety-nine others who are patriotic. Of course it is the duty of the papers to call attention to unpatriotic utterances in order that those guilty may be punished but the fact that they do not give the number of the patriotic may lead to a false impression as to public utterances. I find the desire to support the government practically universal.

"There can be but one end to the war and that is the overthrow of Germany."

NEW WHEAT PRICE MAY BE SET TODAY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The price the government will pay in its purchases of the 1917 crop of wheat probably will be fixed tomorrow by the committee headed by Dr. H. A. Garfield. It will be made effective beginning September 1, when the food administration's wheat-buying corporation starts operations.

Congress already has set an arbitrary price of $2 on the 1918 crop, which under conditions at all favorable, is expected to exceed the present crop by many millions of bushels.

The trend of opinion among members of the committee, it is said, is that if next year's crop is worth $2, the present yield of necessity should bring a higher price.

War Bill Mounting.

mate is $176,000,000 for the new insurance bill, and $1,000,000,000 for the Shipping Board.

The $11,000,000,000 would be raised as follows: Bonds for Allied loans, $7,000,000,000; pending revenue bill, $3,000,000,000; war certificates, $4,000,000,000; bonds for domestic purposes already authorized $2,000,000,000; proposed new bonds, $2,000,000,000; war savings certificates, $3,000,000,000, and regular revenue, $1,300,000,000.

Approximately $11,000,000,000 of the foregoing amounts are included in the bond and certificate bill which the Ways and Means Committee today began to consider.

ALLIED LOANS.

The bill would authorize $7,000,000,000 for Allied loans, $3,000,000,000 to be used in refunding 2½ per cent. bonds already authorized; $2,000,000,000 in war certificates and $2,000,000,000 in war savings certificates. It also contains re-authorization provision for $2,000,000,000 in war certificates and would provide for taking over other previously authorized bonds in the following amounts: Panama Canal, $225,000,000; naval construction, $150,000,000; Mexican border control, Danish West Indies and Alaskan Railway, $100,000,000; 3 per cent. Panama Canal bonds issued in 1916, $63,946,450.

No attempts will be made, Mr. Kitchin believes, to add the newly suggested $2,000,000,000 issue to the bill now before the committee. It will come in as a separate measure if at all.

A brief meeting of the committee today to consider the bill made it obvious that hopes of leaders to pass the measure on Wednesday could not be realized. An insistent demand for the free discussion in committee and on the floor created doubt if the bill could be passed before the end of this week at the earliest.

Several members indicated today that they would oppose Secretary McAdoo's plan of taxing the bonds. There was no indication of opposition to the general terms of the bill.

Opponents of the Secretary's plan, which would make the bonds subject to super-taxes, war profits and excess profits taxes, vary in their views, some favoring no taxes and others the application of the straight income tax levy.

The proposal to create a definite bonds issuance policy during consideration of the present bill was barely touched upon today. Representative Hull of Tennessee suggested his plan of making the bonds subject to termination at the discretion of the Secretary, after a brief period of possibly five years. He also plans to suggest abandoning the convertibility feature on all bonds drawing more than 4 per cent.

"WAR SAVINGS."

Reports that the war savings certificates, intended primarily as a poor man's investment, would be issued in denominations as low as $1 and be placed on sale at all postoffices aroused interest. Details of disposing of these certificates would be left by the bill to Secretary McAdoo, save that equal sales to one person would be limited to $1000 and total sales to an individual to $1000. Amount of interest to be borne by these certificates, as well as by the war certificates, also would be left to the Secretary. Both would be liable under the bill to the same taxes as the bonds.

The House will meet each day until the bill is reported, but will transact no important business before then.

SHIP'S CAPTAIN ENEMY'S GUEST.

U-Boat Navigator Served Wine to His Captive.

Laments that He has to Sink Our Vessels.

Worried by Reports of Lifeboats Destroyed.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 27.—Capt. Cyrus W. Crooks, master of the American bark Christiane, which was sunk by a German submarine August 7 near the Azores, was entertained as a guest on board the U-boat, and over a glass of wine was told by the German commander that he "hated to sink American ships." Capt. Crooks related the incident on arrival here today on board an Italian liner.

The American captain said he was bound home from London when his ship was sunk. Not being armed, he surrendered to the U-boat.

"We left the Christiane in two lifeboats," Capt. Crooks said, "and I was invited by the U-boat captain in excellent English to bring three of my men and come board. We were taken into the officers' cabin, and, after giving me a receipt stating my ship had been sunk, the commander ordered luncheon served, including wine.

"He kept up an interesting conversation while we were eating, and more than once declared he hated to sink American vessels and only did so because we were at war with his country.

"Another thing that appeared to worry him was stories he had heard of sinking of lifeboats by submarines. 'I really can't believe those stories,' he said, 'and so far as I am concerned no lifeboat will ever meet such a fate from my ship.'

"We spent two hours on the submarine while the Germans removed from the Christiane all her supplies and sunk her with bombs. The captain then ordered us to our lifeboats, gave us the direction of nearest land and bade us a courteous good-by. The submarine was about 400 feet long and carried two 6-inch guns. The name signed to the receipt I have is Capt. J. Erlinger, German navy. We landed safely at Ponta Delgada."

Disciplined.

AMERICAN OFFICERS LAY ASIDE CAPS AND CANES.

More Scrupulous Observance of Uniform Regulations are Ordered.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PARIS, Aug. 27.—American officers have put aside their caps and are wearing regulation broad-brimmed campaign hats. Those who carried canes no longer do so, in accordance with detailed dress regulations just issued in general orders.

"The conditions under which our troops are serving in Europe," the orders begin, "are such as to require the most scrupulous observance of uniform regulations. Not only is the disciplinary effect of mixed and careless dress bad, but the conspicuous position in a foreign land which our officers and men occupy makes every slouchy officer and man a reflection on the whole American army."

Various paragraphs from the detailed orders follow:

"Officers will wear the regulation service hat and service coat. Square or bellows pockets in the coat are unauthorized and will not be worn.

"At drill and in the campaign the olive drab shirt will be worn. Officers at brigade or higher headquarters and officers on leave or detached duty are authorized to wear white shirts with collar and cuffs.

"Boots that lace through their entire length are authorized only outside of French cities or in inclement weather.

"When in uniform all officers will wear the Sam Browne belt except when serving in the trenches, when leather or web pistol belts will be worn. At meals in quarters officers' sabers will not be worn. Pistols will be worn at all times in the trenches; otherwise as required by local commanders. Canes may be carried in the trenches only.

"The Quartermaster Corps will organize shops for the repair of clothing. A half-soling machine will be obtained for each company.

"The importance of saluting never has been properly impressed upon our officers and men. Every soldier should have carefully explained to him the meaning of this salute and the importance of properly saluting, especially the officers of the Allied armies. This also applies to field clerks and civilian employees in uniform. Officers will be most punctilious about saluting their superior and returning the salute of enlisted men.

"The commander-in-chief presents this matter of uniform and saluting as one in which the pride of every member of the American expeditionary forces compels to neatness, smartness and attention to personal appearance, which in all armies invariably accompany discipline and efficiency."

CHILDREN IN NEAR EAST DYING OF STARVATION.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—More than 50,000 children under 12 years of age, all dependent on outside relief for necessaries of life, are in Lebanon and an additional 25,000 orphans are in Syria, not including Palestine, according to reports of missionaries from the Near East, who recently arrived here. It was asserted by the missionaries that it was extremely doubtful whether many of these children could survive the coming winter, if relief does not reach them in a more substantial form than heretofore.

In many instances, the missionaries said, little children scarcely old enough to feed themselves, were found by relief workers living absolutely alone, begging for enough food to keep them alive, and, failing in that, subsisting on grass. The majority of these were girls who had survived due to greater powers of resistance or to having been fed by their brothers, who starved.

The Turkish authorities are doing all in their power for the children, missionaries and hospitals have been opened in several places in charge of Turkish women. The number of needy children reached, however, is small compared with the number in actual want.

REICHSTAG MEMBERS DISCUSS REFORMS.

MICHAELIS TELLS PURPOSE OF NEW COUNCIL.

Candor of Statements in Main Committee and Frank Expressions in Press Suggest Numerous Reformations—New Chancellor is Interested Auditor at Sessions.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

BERLIN, Aug. 26 (via London, Aug. 27.)—If frank discussion and criticism are capable of bringing about parliamentary reforms, it may be said that Saturday's proceedings in the Reichstag main committee have given increased momentum to the movement. To this must be added the plainspoken editorial comment by the Liberal press, which states openly that it will not be satisfied with half measures or substitute makeshifts.

The discussion of national politics was continued by the committee yesterday. Chancellor Michaelis twice took the floor for the purpose of explaining his newly-created council, made up of seven Reichstag Deputies and seven members of the Bundesrat, over which he is to preside.

The new council will hold its first meeting on Tuesday for the purpose of discussing the government's reply to the Papal peace note. The Social Democrats, Centrists, National Liberals and Progressives have agreed to co-operate with the government on the issue. The various factions, however, have informed the Chancellor they have accepted the newly-organized body as a provisionary device, and consider it the harbinger of more substantial and permanent measures which will secure to the Reichstag constitutional prerogatives and greater responsibilities.

Among other demands, the coalition will urge nullification of paragraph nine of the imperial constitution which prohibits Reichstag Deputies from becoming members of the federal council. Elimination of this restriction would facilitate appointment of members of Parliament to secretaryships which carry with them membership in the Bundesrat.

Detailed reports of yesterday's session of the main committee, at which the various factions apparently strove to outdo each other in the candor of their criticism, indicate that the Chancellor was an attentive auditor and showed no inclination to oppose some of the more emphatic demands. In a statement supplementing his speech in the forenoon, he said he would consent to consider the seven Reichstag Deputies in the new council as representatives of their political faction. The session afforded the party representatives ample opportunity to bring up their grievances. Among them was the statement of Mathias Erzberger, leader of the Centrists, that his party had not received proper recognition in the distribution of government honors.

The session gave the impression that advocates of parliamentary reforms are inclined to support the Chancellor in his opinion that reorganization cannot be undertaken hastily.

NEGRO ON TOP FLOOR TO PREVENT LYNCHING

OMAHA (Neb.) Aug. 27.—Charles Smith, negro, arrested on suspicion of having assaulted and murdered Mrs. C. L. Nethaway here Sunday afternoon, was today positively identified as having been seen in the Nethaway yard shortly after the murder and by others as having been within 200 feet of the scene of the crime three hours before the murder.

Smith denies any connection with the murder. He admits having been in Lemars (Iowa) last Monday when Alma Braun, school girl, was assaulted and murdered. The two crimes had many points of similarity.

Smith is from Vicksburg, Miss. He is being kept on the top floor of the County Jail to prevent any attempt at lynching on the part of Nethaway's neighbors.

BRITISH IN FLANDERS ATTACK DESPITE RAIN.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The official report from British headquarters in France tonight reads:

"A heavy rain has fallen throughout the day. This afternoon our troops attacked the enemy's positions east and southeast of Langemarck. First reports indicate that we made satisfactory progress.

"The enemy attempted a raid on one of our posts north of Lens this morning, but was driven off with loss.

"Bombing raids and observation work for the artillery were carried out vigorously yesterday by our airplanes. The enemy's batteries, transport and infantry were effectively engaged with machine-gun fire.

"During the intervals the enemy's aircraft were active and aggressive. In the air fighting four German planes were brought; three others were driven down out of control. Two of our machines are missing."

TELL TROOPS WHY AMERICA IS IN WAR.

An officer who was present testified that the lectures have been a great success.

Railroad Record.

FRENCH ROADS IN FINE SHAPE.

Railways Have Withstood the Wear and Tear of War.

Our Engineers will Take Over Military Lines.

Special Duty for Drafted Operating Experts.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Official reports to the War Department show French railroads to be in splendid shape after three years of war. American engineers who have inspected the lines have been amazed at what they found in this regard and no report has reached the department tending to confirm rumors that the transportation systems in France were badly run down and would have to be reorganized.

Secretary Baker said today that the American railway engineer regiments, several of which are now in Europe are intended for work on military railroads only. It will be necessary to take over from the French or British engineers, as the case may be, such military lines as are needed to serve the American bases. This will begin as soon as the American forces in Europe reach a strength to justify the action.

From the bases to the American front, it is probable that numerous additional feeder lines will have to be constructed, and this work, together with the operation and upkeep of the main supply lines, will require the use of many railway engineer units. Nine regiments of this type have been organized with volunteers. It is indicated that eleven more will be formed next month from the men mobilized under the selective service act, supplemented by volunteers.

Railway employees among the drafted men probably will be assigned to these special units. The organization plans for the national army call for many separate training battalions at each divisional cantonment in addition to the fighting troops of the division.

For Mildy.

SIMPLE STYLES ARE EDICT OF FASHION.

WAR COMPELS CHANGE SAY THE ARBITERS OF APPAREL.

Flap Pockets Barred and Lapels are Abbreviated on Street Suits, but There are Some Freak Creations with Bloomers on Display at Chicago Show.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Aug. 27.—Fashion, the capricious, has been tamed. This was the word that went forth at the opening of the Fashion Art League of America when the draperies were drawn aside for the advance showing of the autumn at the Auditorium Hotel today.

"War has tamed Dame Fashion," Mme. Marguerite said, and signed. "Woolens must be conserved. Our soldiers must have warm clothes, so our women must be content with just about one-half the amount of cloth in their tailored attire. Their coats are to be shorter, skirts narrower, lapels to be only lines and not a patch pocket will be seen. The lines are almost severe."

The demonstrator straightened up and took a soldierly air, then she smiled and turned to another model.

"But there are exceptions," she said. "Here is something daring, more daring than ever before," and out of the dark chamber strutted a young woman reminiscent of the harem. The skirt was rich in oriental colors, but the eye would not stay on the skirt, for it parted on either side and displayed ankle bloomers of radiant hue.

"This is decidedly Byzantine," the demonstrator said. "The evening gowns will be full of ribbons—American-made ribbons," she continued. "You know, the industry was threatened last year, thousands were thrown out of employment. Now we are going back to them to revive the industry.

"Gowns with only one sleeve will be fashionable and even the silhouette will be in vogue."

Misses Mabel, Ruth and Hazel Steffey of Goshen, Ind., seemed greatly interested. Misses Ruth and Hazel are to wear the creations of Mabel at the show tomorrow.

"Paris no longer dictates American fashions," Miss Winifred Burns of Duluth put in. She will talk tomorrow on "American Designing." Miss Burns last year won the prize given by the league for the best American design.

munication, indicating that President and Secretary Lansing least have agreed upon the features of the reply, so that it remains to be done is to put ideas into diplomatic form. It is understood that points in some of the important notes already have been prepared.

So far no authorized statement has been forthcoming as to the nature of the reply. Officials deprecate speculation on the subject, but it and there has been a flurry of a published report that Secretary Lansing had informed some of the Entente diplomats that Pope Benedict's proposals would be rejected.

No official opinion on the Pope's proposals will be expressed in diplomatic practice there is held for discussion between the extremes of rejection and acceptance. The fact that Pope Benedict's proposals as was pointed out by a spokesman from the Vatican, in some of the most important features of communication adopted by President Wilson and announced by President Wilson, regarded in some quarters as indicating the peace proposals against a qualified rejection, even in the politic and diplomatic language.

On the other hand, the terms of the Pope's plan to meet some of the essential demands of President Wilson as a condition of peace are regarded as making it impossible that there can be no acceptance.

Much of the uncertainty surrounding the preparation of the American reply has arisen from the fact that the major part of the negotiation upon this subject has been conducted in Washington through resident American ambassadors. In the early stage of the attempts were made by the British diplomats in Washington to obtain the probable nature of the American reply. But these were generally unsuccessful, not from any disposition on the part of officials of the State department to withhold their confidence to the British representatives, but for the reason that until he developed the views of the Entente chancelleries President Wilson was maintaining an open mind on the subject.

So far no authorized statement has been forthcoming as to the nature of the reply. Officials deprecate speculation concerning it and there has been a formal denial of a published report that Secretary Lansing had informed some of the Entente diplomats that Pope Benedict's proposals would be rejected.

No official opinion exists that the proposals will be accepted, but in diplomatic practice there is a wide field for discussion between the two extremes of rejection and acceptance. The fact that Pope Benedict was pointed out by a statement from the Vatican, in some of the most important features of his communication, adopted principles enunciated by President Wilson, is regarded in some quarters as leaving the peace proposals against an unqualified rejection, even in the most polite and diplomatic language.

On the other hand, the failure of the Pope's plan to meet some of the essential demands of President Wilson as a condition of peace is regarded as making it certain that there can be no acceptance.

Much of the uncertainty here surrounding the preparation of the American reply has arisen from the fact that the major part of the negotiation upon this subject has been conducted in foreign capitals through resident American Ambassadors. In the early stages some attempts were made by the Entente diplomats in Washington to ascertain the probable nature of the American reply. ROOSEVELT FAVORS SOLDIER INSURANCE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Hearty indorsement of the administration's soldiers' and sailors' insurance bill is given by Theodore Roosevelt in a letter to Julian W. Mack, made public here tonight with a letter from Judge Mack to Secretary McAdoo.

"I have read the bill for compensating and insuring the soldiers and sailors with the keenest interest," Col. Roosevelt wrote. "It marks a great step forward. It puts the United States where it ought to be, as standing in the forefront among the nations in doing justice to our defenders.

"The bill is a real and constructive measure. I believe it should be passed, and should go into effect when the first men of the new national army are called out. I know of nothing more important than to lift the fears of men that their families may become objects of charity, and to hearten the wives and children and parents of this country to respond bravely and gladly to the nation's call."

COST OF AIRPLANES GREATLY REDUCED.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL RESULTS IN LARGE SAVING.

Increased Production Under New System has Cut Down Expense of Building War Machines About One-half—Continuous Supply of Air Craft is Assured.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Manufacture of aircraft in great numbers under the Aircraft Production Board, it was learned today, has reduced the cost of airplanes one-half, with the probability that the cost price to the government eventually will be about one-third of the normal cost of the machines before the plans of the board were carried out.

In addition, it was stated authoritatively that satisfactory progress was being made with actual construction, insuring not only a continuous supply of the machines now being turned out, but also prompt delivery of the fighting types early next year.

The statement was made in connection with published reports regarding airplane contracts made by the army and navy between September, 1916, and May, 1917, tending to show that the government was compelled by the manufacturers to pay exorbitant prices. Compared with prices now prevailing, it was said, the cost of airplanes during that period appeared excessive, but the limited nature of the airplane industry at the time naturally made the output more costly. Thousands of machines are being ordered now where a score were sought before.

YOUTHS OF THE CITY HAVE BEST HEARING.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—That the country youth is not able to hear so well as his city brother, and that only about one in five of the former possess the auricular acuteness of the city-bred lad is the opinion of officers at the head of Marine Corps recruiting in this city. Their deductions are based on the number of country boys rejected for poor hearing.

Many persons believe that the continual jarring noises of the city have a tendency to dull the sensitiveness of the nerve centers. However, this is not borne out by the figures of the Marine Corps officers, who believe that the quiet life of the country, free from noises, has a tendency to weaken, through disuse, the responsive nerves in the ear.

Scientists point to innumerable parallels in nature where the disuse of an organ gradually reduces its functioning power or eliminates it altogether. The blind fishes in the dark pools of Mammoth Cave are a notable example.

FEAR NO SHORTAGE OF ARMY CLOTHING.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—No serious shortage in clothing or equipment is expected to be disclosed when the national army is mobilized next month. Secretary Baker said today that arrangements for the enormous supplies necessary for the new force are so well advanced that whatever shortage is found will be overcome quickly.

The same situation prevails as to cantonments. Most of the divisional training establishments are nearing completion and all will be ready for the men as rapidly as the levies arrive.

The first British Enfield rifle chambered for American ammunition, the standardized product of three American factories turning out these guns to supplement the Springfield rifle output of government arsenals, was presented to the Secretary Saturday, and in turn presented by him to Chairman Scott of the general munitions board of the defense council. Enough Enfields to supply the national army are expected to be ready by the time the draft forces have been trained to the stage of drilling with weapons.

WAR-TAX BILL IN THE SENATE.

Opening of the Third Week of a Sharp Debate.

Leaders are Paving the Way to Apply Gag Rule.

Postal Rates for Newspapers, Magazines Involved.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Tension in the Senate's struggle over the war tax bill mounted so today, with the opening of the third week of debate, that the leaders began paving the way for applying the cloture rule to curtail discussion and negotiations were set afoot with the hope of compromising the varying opinions over higher taxation of war profits and incomes.

The Senate spent the day in talk without action on the pending postage sections of the bill, while leaders earnestly conferred toward compromising disputes and hastening the measure's passage. They hoped to dispose of the 1-cent letter postage increase and the publishers' tax provisions tomorrow.

Petitions for cloture, which tonight had more than fifty Senators' signatures—only a few less than the necessary two-thirds to put cloture into effect—were circulated after Senator Simmons failed to secure unanimous consent to fix a date for final voting on either the entire bill or the war profits section. Several Senators, however, signed with the understanding that the cloture rule would not be sought unless a filibuster developed. Among those signing were many favoring drastic increase in war profits and income tax rates. Presentation of the petitions is not planned by Senator Simmons until after the war profits debate begins.

In today's debate on the postage taxes Senators Hardwick, Pomerene and McKellar led the attack on the bill's provisions, advocating higher postal rates for newspapers and magazines. Senators Harding, Smoot, McCumber and others opposed higher postage rates, while Senators Borah, Townsend and others urged outright elimination of postage taxes from the bill. Senator Weeks of Massachusetts expects to speak tomorrow for his plan to eliminate the publishers' postage and income tax provisions.

THE DEBATE.

Senators Hardwick of Georgia and McKellar of Tennessee championed substitutes for the Finance Committee's amendment providing for a special tax of 5 per cent. on publishers' net incomes exceeding $4000 annually and increase of second-class mail rates from 1 to 1¼ cents a pound. The committee provision was written as a substitute to the House zone system increase of second-class rates, denounced by virtually all publishers. Under the committee's plan $7,500,000 in revenue would be obtained from publishers' incomes and $3,000,000 from the one-quarter cent a pound postage increase. From the 1-cent increase on letters $50,000,000 revenue is estimated.

Senator Hardwick proposed a substitute submitted by the Postoffice Department proposing to maintain the present cent a pound rate on news portion of publication, but increasing, by graduation from 3 to 8 cents a pound, the second-class rate on proportions devoted to advertising. He cited that $80,000,000 annually is lost by the government in carrying bulky second-class matter, mostly magazines, filled with advertising, at the 1-cent mail rate.

MODIFICATION.

Senator McKellar's substitute is for a modified zone increase system, leaving present rates within a radius of 300 miles—the average circulation range of newspapers—to reach magazines and other periodicals circulating usually over wider territory. Representatives of newspaper interests are giving it their support.

Efforts by Chairman Simmons to obtain a unanimous consent agreement for a final vote on the bill at 4 p.m. next Saturday failed. Efforts to fix a time for disposing of the income and war profits sections also were unavailing. Objections were made by Senators who did not think such an agreement should be made until the principal provisions had been disposed of.

Senator Simmons withdrew his motions and announced he would ask that the war profits section come up for consideration as soon as the postal rates provisions have been agreed upon.

POSTAGE SECTIONS.

Beginning debate on the postage sections, Senator Hardwick moved to strike out that section levying a cent increase on letters.

Increase in the rates for transporting newspapers was indorsed by Senator Harding, an Ohio newspaper publisher, who declared that there was no reason why newspapers should not pay a reasonable amount to cover the cost of their distribution. He added, however, that if a change in the rate should be made it should not become effective for at least one year to enable newspapers to adjust subscription rates.

After Senator Simmons failed to get an agreement for a vote on the bill or the disputed sections, cloture petitions were circulated and more than the necessary sixteen signatures were secured within a few minutes. Senator Simmons was undecided when he would present a cloture motion, hoping an agreement might be reached and make it unnecessary. The cloture movement was bipartisan.

Senators of the group favoring higher taxation predicted its defeat.

"I think it an outrage to put a tax on advertising receipts, because the newspapers, if they are making any money, must pay a tax anyway, the same as any other organization," continued Senator Harding. "I can't understand why Congress is unwilling to take up and settle this question."

He assured Senators that if any were afraid of their political futures by taking action there would be no occasion for worry if they were just.

COST OF NEWS.

Senator Harding said the war has added tremendously to the cost of gathering news, the sum paid out annually for cable and wireless tolls being enormously large.

In concluding his speech, Senator Harding said it was unfair for the publishers to be singled out for a tax on receipts, and it was manifestly unfair for Congress to attempt to remedy an evil in a measure designated as war legislation when it should be founded on a scientific investigation.

He urged that the postal rate section be eliminated from the revenue bill and taken up and straightened out along scientific lines.

Advocating publishers' postage increases, Senator Pomerene of Ohio declared the government pensions newspaper and magazine publishers through the "indefensible mail bonus or subsidy." He attacked the proposal for payment by the government for advertising the next bond issue. He said many publishers favor higher postage, disliking the subsidy, and expressed belief that advertisers and subscribers would willingly pay increased charges to cover postage increases.

Senator Jones of New Mexico defended the action of the committee in levying a postal tax. He declared the committee had no intention of adjusting second-class postage rates, but acted purely with the intention of raising as much revenue as possible.

DENUNCIATION.

The committee's action was denounced by Senator Townsend, who declared there are thousands of articles that could have been taxed to bring in the same revenues without imposing such hardship. He also said the proposed 5 per cent. excess income tax on publishers was unjustifiable, and that in some quarters it was said to be a penalty.

Senator Smoot said every protest against the postal tax received by him had come from publishers, and that he did not think the people would object to the payment of an extra cent every time they mailed a letter. This is only a temporary war measure, he added, and will be repealed as soon as the war ends. The committee, in fixing the tax rates, the Utah Senator said, did not take the word of the publishers regarding their incomes, but obtained its information from the Treasury Department. He asserted the publishers' profits in 1916 had been enormous, and for that reason the committee believed it could take part of the profits without destroying them.

The House provision, eliminated by the Finance Committee, taxing picture and other private post cards 1 cent, Senator Smoot declared, would have resulted in a $10,000,000 revenue loss through decreased use of cards.

INTERRUPTION.

Senator Borah interrupted to say that other better tax sources were available and that the postage tax was unnecessary.

Defending the increased letter rate, Senator McCumber of the Finance Committee said it would be easily put into effect.

"The American people, never so prosperous, are not a penny people," he said, "and are not complaining over the letter tax. Mail-order houses only might object, but the tax would not be felt by the individual. The American people are not pleayunish, and will not cease writing letters because it costs a penny more."

As to the publishers' tax, Senator McCumber said the publishers had been built up under the government's promise in 1879 of reduced mail rates to enlighten the public.

"They have been encouraged by our laws, and shall we now, during the war, strike death to any business that we can keep going?" he asked. "We want to get at the publishers making enormous profits by the special income tax, and the small postage increase will not ruin any publisher."

Senator Smith of Georgia declared that not one public protest against the letter tax had been made.

JOHNSON'S MOVE.

Advocates of higher taxation made further definite moves just before the Senate adjourned tonight. Senator Johnson of California introduced an amendment designed to levy 80 per cent. on war taxes and Senator LaFollette offered another substitute for the income war section, proposing to obtain $643,651,000 from incomes instead of the $450,000,000 provided in the bill. Senator Johnson proposed to levy 73 per cent. additional on war profits, estimating the present levy at 7 per cent.

REICHSTAG COUNCIL AND THE DEPUTIES.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 27.—The hope that the new provisional council of the Reichstag will lead to closer relations between the government and the deputies was expressed by Chancellor Michaelis in addressing the Reichstag main committee yesterday.

"I am grateful that you have expressed willingness to co-operate in carrying out my proposals," said the Chancellor. "The necessity of discussing certain fundamental questions within a limited circle, in order to make it certain that these exchanges will be of a confidential nature, has been proved. When I said that the members of the new body are not to be regarded as 'persons authorized' by the government or parties, I meant that it was out of the question in every single case that the government or the party representatives should join the commission with instructions or that reports to the parties should be made after the sitting had been held.

"Matters which are still in course of development and unripe for public discussion must be discussed confidentially. When we finally attain a solution it can be made public, but I am confident these confidential discussions within a narrow circle will lead to real progress. Closer contact between the government and the parties will be established."

BRITISH SOCIALISTS ON CAUSE OF WAR.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The British Socialist party has prepared a statement on the war for presentation at the inter-Allied Socialist conference at Westminster Tuesday and Wednesday. The statement declares that there is common responsibility for the war and that consequently reparation must be from a common fund contributed by all the belligerents.

Other conditions laid down by the Socialists are that Mesopotamia must be transferred to Turkey; the German colonies must be returned; there must be no action on the part of other countries to capture German trade; the people of Alsace-Lorraine to decide their own government, and a similar course to be applied to Poland, India, Egypt, Ireland and Algiers.

WANT NO PEACE WITHOUT HONOR

Catholic Leader Tells of the Aims of Followers.

Peace Move of the Pope Gets Indorsement.

Conference to Vote Upon "Diocesan Plan."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 27.—Reports of national officers and committees consumed the greater part of today's sessions at the convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies.

Tonight the delegates and visitors participated in a patriotic celebration at a local park. Addresses were made by visiting dignitaries.

Tomorrow morning the committee on resolutions will make a report which is expected to contain an indorsement, in general terms, of the recent peace proposal of Pope Benedict. Tomorrow it also is expected the convention will vote upon the so-called "diocesan plan" whereby all of the smaller Catholic societies of the country would be brought into affiliation with the federation, increasing its membership from 3,000,000 to 18,000,000.

The election of officers and the choosing of the 1918 convention city also may come before the convention tomorrow. Chicago, Philadelphia and St. Paul are being mentioned for the next convention city.

In his report to the federation today President John Whalen reaffirmed the loyalty of the Catholics to America in the war and declared that all sacrifices demanded must be met with cheerfulness.

Catholics, President Whalen estimated, would prove to be 25 per cent. of the American fighting forces. Active work already is under way to provide for their spiritual and physical needs.

"Much as we deplore war, we want no peace with dishonor or with future danger to the starry banner or to the world at large," he said. "But this does not take from us our privilege and our duty to pray and to strive for a true, lasting peace that shall give speedy and permanent comfort to the long-suffering human race. We rejoice at the earnest, wise, fatherly efforts to bring about such a peace by our great spiritual chief, His Holiness, Pope Benedict, XV. His efforts will not be in vain."

The report of the National Morals Committee, presented today, pictured a drift away from the church.

"It is the American boast today that we have progressed in all directions to a place of first and highest development," the report read. "In spite of the claim, right no longer rules; justice is fast declining; order is upset; the family is endangered; the home is disrupted; virtue, public and private, is decadent; materialism is in the ascendancy; vicious propaganda run riot, and religious indifference dominates. In some directions it may be a startling statement, yet it nevertheless is a fact that the rapid drift of this country at present is toward paganism.

"In its final analysis, what can be its cause other than a system of education which has totally eliminated God?" the report asks.

GREEK DEPUTIES FAVOR MONARCHY.

URGE ANOTHER TRIAL FOR OLD STYLE OF GOVERNMENT.

Disturbance in Parliament when Member Declares King Constantine was Dismissed by Entente. Old Ruler Blamed for New Demand for Republican Form.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ATHENS, Saturday, Aug. 25 (delayed.)—The possibility and opportunities of establishing a Greek republic was discussed in the Chamber of Deputies today. M. Venizelos declared that Parliament did not consider that the time had arrived for a republic, but believed it its duty to give the monarchy another trial.

M. Venizelos said he had often told former King Constantine that the nations of the world were gradually approaching the idea of abolishing the institution of Kingship, and it depended upon the existing Kings themselves to hasten or postpone this inevitable consummation. Unfortunately, Constantine's policy had been such as to deal a mortal blow to the idea of a monarchy, and many Greeks, who formerly opposed a republic, now admitted its advisability in principle, though they considered it still premature.

"The government, nevertheless," continued the Premier, "is of the opinion that it is our duty to give the monarchy another trial. "This, of course, is a final trial, but I am sure the Greek people and the coming constituent assembly will be disposed to render possible the continuation of our present system of democracy, presided over by a King."

This statement was received with prolonged applause, as clearly defining the government's position on the recent growing tendency toward a republic.

The Premier's statement was brought out by the speech of George Cafantaris, chairman of the delegation which recently visited America, who said he was deeply impressed with what he had observed of republican institutions in the United States. He closed with a strong expression in favor of the establishment of a Greek republic.

M. Boussios, opposition member, raised a tumult when he declared that King Constantine never abdicated, but had been dismissed by the Entente Powers, as proved by the fact that the act of abdication had not been presented to the chamber. Premier Venizelos and other Deputies left their seats to protect M. Boussios from personal attacks by angry members of the majority.

ACCUSE COLORED TROOPS OF PLOT.

INVESTIGATORS SAY SOLDIERS PLANNED MANY DEATHS.

Row Over Sale of Liquor Said to Have Prompted Move in Which Conspirators Pledged Themselves to Slay Two Hundred Whites. Penalty is Extreme.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 27.—Investigation of the murderous raid by the negro soldiers of the Twenty-fourth Infantry at Houston, in which seventeen lives were sacrificed and twenty-three wounded, is said to have brought to light a compact among the blacks to kill many persons. The military investigation being pursued by the army officers among the troops now at Columbus conducted mainly through several trusted members of the command who would not enter the raiding expedition, shows that more than 200 of the troopers had sworn each to get one white man.

Charges, or rather complaints, of ill-treatment on the part of white citizens and policemen were made by the negro soldiers, most of which, according to the testimony of their own companions, were unfounded in whole or greatly exaggerated, and in several instances based on alleged charges that certain saloon men had sold beer to white soldiers and would not sell to negro soldiers.

Leaders in the offending organization had planned three raiding parties to take separate routes through the city of Houston with positive instructions that every one should account for bringing down at least one white citizen for every five shots fired. The plan miscarried in several details because, it is said, about twenty-five members of the band weakened and would not join in the expeditions and two or three blacks who were to look after handing out of the ammunition, lost their nerve and even secreted a large quantity of cartridges out of reach of the soldier mob.

Military authorities are insisting upon trying the accused murderers by military courts because they say the civilians will not give them an impartial trial and that with funds raised by friends of the negroes some of the guilty ones may escape punishment by the usual course in civil court, it is declared. The military authorities call attention to the fact that in war times for such crimes and declare every guilty soldier will be given the maximum penalty, death.

MARTIAL LAW REMOVED.

Mr. Baker also refused to make any statement as to the future policy of the War Department toward sending colored regiments into Texas or other Southern States for training.

He announced yesterday that he had discovered a successful method for preserving lemon juice with its natural flavor.

After building a home at No. 7111 Sacramento street, Altadena, for the final wife, the retired business man announced that he was patiently waiting for the "one woman." There was a host of applicants for the position and he finally made a choice, but the marriage was a failure, the young wife soon applying for a divorce.

Immediately after the unhappy ending of Mr. Ryster's dream of romance, more than a year ago, he took up the study of lemon products as a solace. After thousands of patient experiments he claims to have found a valuable formula. He owns a lemon grove and has not lacked for a plenty of material on which to experiment.

Mr. Ryster is wealthy and is not interested in the financial side of his discovery. He is keeping it a secret at present, however, and it is his purpose to contribute his discovery to charity. The method has not been fully perfected, but it is his idea to hold some sort of a formal occasion when the public will be invited to participate.

TOD FORD COMING.

Lloyd R. Macy received a telegram yesterday from Tod Ford, the aviatic pioneer, who is in America on a leave of absence from the Lafayette Flying Squadron in France, saying that he would visit Pasadena before his return to the front. TERRITORY MAY JOIN ALHAMBRA.

PETITIONS BEING CIRCULATED IN GRANADA PARK.

In Addition It is Proposed to Include the Arostegui Ranch, Thus Reaching to the Western Line of Ramona Acres—Election Expected at Early Date.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ALHAMBRA, Aug. 27.—Petitions are being circulated today in Granada Park asking that the territory be annexed to Alhambra. Granada Park comprises 180 acres and lies south of Hellman avenue, the southern boundary of Alhambra, and has about 100 population, twenty-one families residing there. In addition to Granada Park it is now proposed that the Arostegui ranch of twenty-five acres, lying alongside the east boundary of the park, reaching to the western boundary of Ramona Acres, recently included in the incorporation of Monterey Park, be also included.

Some time ago a petition was circulated taking in Granada Park only, but the residents of that section concluded that the Arostegui ranch should be included and new petitions were gotten up. In the original Granada Park petition the name of every park resident was signed to it and it is understood that the new petition will be unanimously in favor of annexation. The park desires annexation for the reason that it can then be served from this city with light and water. It is a rapidly growing section and only needs better light and water service to make it develop rapidly.

The petition will be presented at the next meeting of the Alhambra Commission and an election will be called immediately in Granada Park to vote on the proposition. If the park votes to come in, Alhambra City Commission, under the new law which went into effect August 1, will pass an ordinance admitting the new territory instead of the city of Alhambra having to vote on the question, as it had to do when the new sewer farm was annexed to the city.

All parties concerned believe that the annexation will be beneficial alike to Granada Park and to Alhambra.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LINDSAY, Aug. 27.—Headed by Phillip Munz, an instructor in botany at Pomona College, nine members of the faculties of Harvard and Yale universities have completed a trip through the orange groves of this district and left here for a walking trip through Sequoia National Park.

The members of the party have covered 4000 miles in a motor trip through the South and Southwest, during the course of which they collected botanical and geological specimens.

Norboe of the State Engineer's office, are here for a detailed inspection of irrigation projects. They have completed a partial inspection of the Lindsay-Strathmore district and expect to spend some time in going over the Terra Bella district.

Maj. Norboe stated the commissioners also would collect preliminary data on the proposal to impound the waters of Tule River, a project under consideration by land owners.

SCHOOLS TO OPEN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VISALIA, Aug. 27.—According to a statement by J. M. Buckman, County Superintendent of Schools, labor conditions in this county are such at the present time there is no reason for having the schools remain closed after the usual period of the summer vacation. Practically all rural schools will open September 3 and those in the cities September 10.

TAX RATE WILL BE CUT DOWN.

Santa Monica Commissioners Promise Reduction.

Assessed Valuation of Beach City Also is Lower.

Pompano and Smelt Running in Large Quantities.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 27.—The tax rate for Santa Monica for the coming fiscal year will probably be $1.30, as compared to $1.35 for last year and $1.60 for the year previous.

The Board of Equalization met today and discussed the prospective tax rate. The city reduced the tax rate the first year of the commission form of government, and this year the assessed valuation is reduced by over $300,000. The present assessed valuation is not quite $16,000,000.

FISH ARE PLENTIFUL.

Pompano and smelt are being caught here from the piers in plentiful quantities. Last week there was a big run of mackerel, and the present run of the favorite game sea fish, pompano, is keeping a large crowd constantly fishing.

BANQUET AND DANCE.

When the first 5 per cent. of the quota for district No. 3 of the county leaves for the western mobilization point, the men will take with them a feeling that the people of the bay district are with them in spirit. Plans are being formulated for a banquet and dance to be given in honor of the men, September 4.

While the local board has made no announcement of those exempted or called, it was learned today that 144 men have been certified and that the names will be posted within a few days. On account of the number called, it is likely that after those first called to the colors have left a third call of about 200 men will be made.

GAS QUESTION.

In a communication to Max Thelen, president of the State Railroad Commission, J. C. Steele, who was active in the fight for annexation here, asks for an opinion regarding the right of the City Commission to regulate the quality of gas furnished consumers in the city.

Mr. Steele asserts that the local gas company should furnish 1015 British thermal heat units of natural gas. He says the company only gives a mixture of from 750 to 815 units.

MOUNTAIN FIRE IS UNDER CONTROL.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 27.—Starting from the small fire made by an Indian, who was clearing ground close to the San Manuel reservation, seven miles northeast of this city, a serious brush fire is burning on the slopes of Mt. Harrison, one of the smaller peaks of the San Bernardino range. Forest Superintendent H. H. Charlton, who is assisting District Ranger Fred Jeken in directing the fire fighting, announced tonight that it is under control, and probably will be completely stamped out tomorrow. The fire burned up Sand Canyon and has destroyed more than 1000 acres of watershed that protects the groves in the Highland district. About 100 men were called to fight the fire.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SANTA ANA, Aug. 27.—The Board of Supervisors has appropriated $1000 to be used in extending fire trails and fire breaks in the Santa Ana mountains. Irrigation companies at Villa Park and El Modena are to contribute $1700. The work will be under the direction of Forest Ranger J. R. Stephenson.

AZUSA TO ANNEX MUNICIPAL FARM.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

AZUSA, Aug. 27.—When City Clerk Bouldin received a tax statement from the county for $222 he thought some one in the Assessor's office had "kidded" him. On inquiry it was discovered that the city of Azusa had to pay taxes on 160 acres of barren land held for the use of water stock.

City Attorney Frederick Baker reported that the tax was the result of a law passed by the last Legislature and the Council countered with a quotation from an equally new law which permits the annexation of uninhabited land. The attorney was instructed to prepare a call for an election for this purpose. Rather than pay taxes on the land, several members of the Council propose to make it an income property, leasing it for war garden purposes. The land adjoins the city limits and can be served with both municipally owned water and light.

DUCK FLIGHT IS HEAVY.

Ducks are coming south no earlier than usual, but the flight appears to be heavier than for several years. Whether there is enough grain gleanings this year to hold the extra supply of birds, or whether they will clean up the pickings and move on to better feed below, depends somewhat on whether an early rain occurs to still further curtail the grain wastings.

Where There Are Children There Should Be a Flag Pole

In the bringing up of children, the towering flagpole with its patriotic ceremonials and its sentimental majesty exerts a most wonderful influence for good.

And why shouldn't every home have a flag pole?—the cost surely cannot stand in the way. And there is virtually no expense after the first cost. A "Boco" Steel Flag Pole should give many years of service—perhaps a lifetime.

You can get almost any height you want—and you need have no worry about its strength—in even the strongest gale.

The weather proof halyard top is so constructed that the flag cannot foul the halyards nor wrap around the pole.

Let us quote the cost on a "Boco" steel flag pole for your garden!

JUNIOR CHAMP BEATS TENNIS VETERAN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ROCHESTER (N. Y.) Aug. 27.—The Red Cross fund tennis players, touring the country to raise money for an ambulance section, visited this city today and played before a crowd of nearly a thousand persons. Of the four matches, the best was easily the final, in which John R. Strachan of California won a hard battle, 7 to 5, from Harold Throckmorton, but lost the second set, 6 to 3. Strachan was too tired to continue, and the match was not finished. In the mixed doubles Miss Mary K. Browne and Strachan won both sets easily from Miss Molla Bjurstedt and Frederick W. Alexander.

The national junior champion, Charles Garland, surprised the spectators by winning two sets from Throckmorton, 6-3, 6-2. Garland also defeated Marshall Allen of Seattle, 6-2, 8-6.

Most of the players appear to be suffering somewhat under the strain of almost daily matches.

GOLINDO TO BOX MADDEN.

Wild Man is Expected to Win from the Invader.

Salvatore to Box McManus in Semi-windup.

Windmill Conde Also to be Seen in Bouts.

BY LEEPSON BOWNES.

Mauling Mike Golindo will help introduce Lloyd Madden to the Vernon ringsiders tonight and that insures Mr. Madden of a warm reception. The Kaiser himself would think they were cheering him if he got in the ring with Mr. Golindo.

Madden is a straight punching bird who visited these parts seeking the Coast lightweight boxing championship some three years ago. He is inclined to set himself and Mr. Golindo's chief delight lies in upsetting the balance of these parties who like to get set.

The semi-windup between Phil Salvatore and L. McManus should be a wonder. Salvatore is a hard hitting bird and so is McManus. The latter has looked very good in the last three or four starts and will give the Sacramento boxer something to think about.

One bout we are sure going to enjoy is that between Louie Conde and Leo Huock. Conde is one of the wildest and most willing sluggers ever seen in the Vernon ring, while Houck will mix it with anybody. Conde is in better shape than when he met Jackson last week and it should be a very warm affair.

Three other bouts will round out the programme, while our old college chum, Earl Mohan will again appear in a set of duck panties and referee. Earl is the only guy we know who can look funny and be a good referee at one and the same time.

ST. LOUIS BROWNS WIN DRILL PRIZE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Members of the St. Louis club are winners of the competitive military drill of the American League. Lieut.-Col. Raymond Sheldon, U.S.A., who reviewed the clubs last week, announced his decision tonight. The players will be presented with $500 by President Johnson of the American League. The army sergeant who drilled them will get $100.

Second place was given to the Washington club and third place to Cleveland. Chicago was awarded fourth place, Boston fifth, Detroit sixth, New York seventh and Philadelphia eighth. The competition was judged according to military standard. The St. Louis players were perfect in variety of movements and punctuality, and were only penalized one point in discipline and six points in drilling.

Lieut.-Col. Sheldon in his report said he was astonished at the efficiency of the teams.

President Johnson said that military drilling undoubtedly would be carried out every season.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Chicago gained a full game on Boston in the pennant race by shutting out New York, 3 to 0, while Detroit won from Boston. The locals now are three games ahead of Boston.

Shawkey handed the game to Chicago in the seventh inning. He walked Felsch, Gandil and Schalk, and Manager Rowland then sent Eddie Murphy in as a pinch hitter for Cicotte. He singled to right, sending Felsch and Gandil home. Schalk, who had gone to third, then scored on a wild pitch. Score:

BALTIMORE TO GET FRANCHISE.

(DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

BALTIMORE, Aug. 27.—Baltimore, after being enmeshed for fourteen years in minor-league baseball with its despised draft rule and classification which ranked it in the great national pastime with cities far inferior, is to be restored to the American League.

Ban Johnson, who has always been a stumbling-block to Baltimore major-league ambition, is now in accord with Clark Griffith's plan to close up shop in Washington and come here, where Sunday baseball is expected to regain for the Old Fox, and those who have sunk their kale in the Washington club, the enormous losses sustained in the last couple of years.

The plan to shift the Washington franchise here is really the outcome of the suit of the Baltimore Terps against organized baseball.

GERMANS REPORT INSULTS BY FRENCH.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—The German Imperial Bureau of Foreign Affairs has addressed a note to the French government, through the Swiss Legation here, accusing Gen. Maitrot of the French army of insulting German officer prisoners during the German offensive at Verdun. The general is charged with calling the officers "bandits" and "pigs" and with personally tearing off their epaulets and decorations and striking them, and with telling them on one occasion that he could have them shot, but that they were not worth it, so he would hang them.

The note names three German officers who are now at S———, and asks the Swiss Legation to request the French government to open an investigation and punish Gen. Maitrot. The legation also is asked to make an independent investigation at S———. If the German government, it is set forth, had not received the French reply by August (September?) 7, it will make appropriate reprisals.

Gen. Maitrot has written to French headquarters that he has never been in Verdun or even in the Verdun region during the war. He says he might protest against the infamous accusation, brought without proof, but that he merely demands to be sent to S——— to confront the officers and exact from them apologies and a written withdrawal of their charges.

GERMAN TRADE AIMS OCCASION A WARNING.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—"Whatever be the outcome of the war, Germany will make as active a canvass for export trade as its resources and financial condition will allow," is the warning given American business men today by the Department of Commerce.

The aims of Germany to capture the great neutral markets of South and Central America, Spain and the Near East, as well as neighboring countries, are disclosed in a report to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce by Chauncey D. Snow.

Mr. Snow was in Germany investigating industrial conditions when the war broke out.

The vessels, operating under government charter, will carry cargoes specified by the Shipping Board at rates prescribed by the board.

ALSATIANS WOULD JOIN WITH FRANCE.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Alsace-Lorraine, desirous only to be parts of France again, will oppose the reported plan of Chancellor Michaelis to make it a federal duchy, Daniel Blumenthal, formerly an Alsatian member of the Reichstag, declared today. He also insisted that virtually all Alsatians will oppose the Pope's peace plan as having been conceived in part at least by the German government.

Blumenthal, who fled from Germany on the night of July 31, 1914, a few hours before soldiers called at his residence to arrest him, is here in the general interest of his country.

RUMANIANS SHELL BLACK SEA PORT.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 27.—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press.) As Austro-German attack on Rumanian positions south of Ocna last night was repulsed, the War Office announces. Northeast of Soveia, the Rumanians recovered a height which had been wrested from them.

The official statement regarding the Caucasian front says:

"On the Black Sea coast our troops, co-operating with our fleet, made a raid on the town of Ordu (166 miles west of Trebizond.) The landing force was met with fire from houses occupied as hospitals. The landing party destroyed many official buildings and blew up eleven motor boats and six felucces (small sailing vessels)."

MILLION BIBLES FOR AMERICAN TROOPS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—An order for 1,000,000 khaki pocket testaments for American soldiers and sailors has been placed by the National War Work Council of the Y.M.C.A. with the American Bible Society, it was announced today. President James Wood, of the Bible society said the books will be furnished without cost and the money for printing them will be raised by popular subscription.

Since May, 1917, the Bible society has printed and distributed 400,000 portions of the Scriptures among soldiers and sailors independently of the Y.M.C.A. Hereafter, however, in accordance with the action of President Wilson in officially designating the Y.M.C.A. as the authorized body through which all work for the moral improvement of the soldiers and sailors is to be carried on, it will have sole charge of the distribution of the Scriptures to the nation's armed forces.

TO TRAIN OFFICERS FOR PORTO RICANS.

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Aug. 24.—The training camp of the officers' reserve corps to supply officers for Porto Rico's brigade of 7000 men to be drafted soon will be held in Cayey, a small town in the mountains, fifty miles from San Juan, and will begin August 27. The quota of 245 men, including forty-five noncommissioned officers from the Porto Rico regiment now in Panama, has been selected from the 1500 applicants for entrance to the camp, and the candidates have bought their uniforms and are ready for work.

These student officers, in addition to having to measure up to the same requirements exacted of candidates for commissions in the States, are also required to have a proficient knowledge of both Spanish and English for, while they will receive all their instruction and orders in English, they will command men who, for the most part, have little or no knowledge of that language.

Officers are coming from the States to instruct the student officers.

CARS RUN AGAIN; EXPECT MURDER.

Strikebound United Railways Resumes Service.

Police Get Busy Following Formal Request.

Supervisors Unanimously Demand Arbitration.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Partial night service on five of the thirty-three lines of the United Railroads was resumed tonight after three nights without service in the street car strike, which has been on for two weeks. President Lilienthal said he had given orders to run the cars sent out on these five lines on their regular schedules.

The resumption of night service followed a formal demand on Chief of Police White by President Lilienthal for a uniformed policeman as guard on every car. Chief White replied by issuing orders to company commanders to detail enough men to protect the routes through which the cars run, but refused men on the cars. President Lilienthal said that with this assurance of police protection he ordered the night service, and the company would try running the cars, and would see "what would happen." Night service was withdrawn last week as a result of the murder of James Waters, a substitute car man, Thursday night.

The Board of Supervisors today unanimously passed a resolution calling for arbitration of the strike.

FIRE WARNING SHOTS AT MINE WORKERS.

LEXINGTON (Ky.) Aug. 27.—Reports reaching here from Middlesboro state that after an attempt was made by several mine operators to work their mines with nonunion labor today the strikers opened fire with guns from neighboring hills.

It was afterward found that no one had been injured and it was stated by numerous miners who claimed not to have been connected with the firing that it was their belief that the shooting was done as a warning to the operators not to operate with nonunion labor and that no attempt was made to wound anyone.

Members of the association stated yesterday that they have taken every reasonable step to avert a strike, and on the three main points of difference they proposed arbitrate, but were notified by the Garment Workers' Union that their demands were conceded by noon of last Friday the strike would be called.

WOMEN PICKETS.

The strikers used women as pickets yesterday forenoon. Despite the ordinance prohibiting picketing, a group of women strikers stationed themselves in front of No. 723 South Los Angeles street, where some of the garment-making plants are located, and help up men and women as they reported for the purpose of going to work. These were treated to arguments, and in one instance, it was stated, a woman almost grabbed a man by his necktie and vigorously yanked him around as a means of enforcing her arguments against his purpose to go to work.

The employers concerned present a unbroken front. They absolutely deny all charges of poor services, and declare that the places of the strikers will be promptly filled by workmen who have not listened to the siren song of the walking delegate and the blood-sucking "organizer."

GARMENT WORKERS WALK OUT ON A TEST STRIKE.

Three Hundred and Fifty Quit Jobs at Unions' Behest—Pickets Posted, but Employers Stand Firm.

...ELING their way in the hope they may be able to launch a general assault on the redoubts ...n labor in Los Angeles, the ...horities yesterday precipi...d a strike of Los Angeles gar...t workers. It is a trial strike—...liminary move to discover ...ther strike funds will be forth...ing from the pockets of work...g people, and whether there is a ...sh in the solid front of the em...ers who are defending the open ...p.

The walk-out included some 350 ...bers of the thirteen local ...s in which women's garments ...e manufactured for the whole...e trade.

The firms directly affected by the ...t include Michaelson & Direc...r, Said, A. W. Heckel, Heckel ...odsman, L. Skoss & Co., J. ...d, Friedman & Burke Co., ...n & Co., S. Rosenthal, Rosen...n & Goldberg, Berlin & Mokovitz, ...s & Hershal and M. Sacks Com...y. These firms compose the ...d Cloak and Suit Manufactur...association.

...e these concerns carried on ...t to some extent yesterday, de...pite picketing. They expect to se...e more hands today, and to re...t their forces until they are able ...n their operating-rooms on a ...l scale. The association is ...ing daily meetings, at which all ...ts of the situation are dis...ed.

...embers of the association stated ...terday that they have taken ...y reasonable step to avert a ...ke, and on the three main ...ts of difference they proposed ...e concessions, but were notified by ...e Garment Workers' Union that ...t all demands were conceded ...time of last Friday the strike ...d to be called.

WOMEN PICKETS.

...e strikers used women as pick...yesterday forenoon. Despite the ...ce prohibiting picketing, a ...p of women strikers stationed ...selves in front of No. 738 South ...Angeles street, where some of ...e garment-making plants are lo...ed, and help up men and women ...y reported for the purpose of ...ing to work. There were several ...ly arguments, and in one in...ce, it was stated, a woman ...k grabbed a man by his neck...d vigorously yanked him ...ck as a means of enforcing her ...ands against his purpose to go ...o work.

...e employers concerned present ...unbroken front. They absolutely ...y all charges of poor environ...nt, and declare that the places of ...e strikers will be promptly filled ...workmen who have not listened ...e siren song of the walking ...ate and the blood-sucking "or...ers."

...ese garment workers have said ...y will rent a loft and open a tailor shop of their own. The employers are not afraid of these tactics. They point out that trade cannot be built up in a day; that such a shop cannot hope to gain a following among the merchants, who will recognize the hand of the union-labor boss behind the actions of honest but misled working people.

STRIKE ASSESSMENT.

Incidentally, the rank and file of the unions of the city are given in this garment workers' strike a foretaste of what all this agitation will mean. The Labor Council has levied a strike assessment of 10 cents a week on each member of every union in the city.

And yet, it is pointed out, even the most optimistic coveter of union dues and assessments could not hope that this fund, even if it is all paid—which is not likely—will long keep the garment makers from want. The old scale of a dollar a day for each striker would mean $2450 a week for those who have now gone out. At 10 cents a head, this means 24,500 union men would have to contribute. It is not believed the Labor Temple will be able to get any such contribution, even under the most favorable circumstances. And less than $1 a day will mean woe for the workmen who have been persuaded to leave their jobs.

When news of the strike was conveyed to him Chief of Police Butler detailed several plainclothes men to see that there was no disorder, and also warned all patrolmen to watch for disturbances or picketing on their beats. No considerable trouble was reported.

The carpenters, who, through their union, have presented to employers demands for more pay and shorter hours, will not strike for at least two weeks and perhaps not then, as it is probable the disposition of employers to deal individually with the men will disorganize the union ranks before that time.

A number of new men have been taken into the union and these have proved to be the hot heads. They have demanded an immediate strike, but have been overruled by cooler heads, and the general disposition is toward such settlement of differences that there will be no interruption in ordinary industry.

GIVEN TO GRANDAUNT.

Susie Carlton, the fourteen-year-old San Diego girl whose abrupt departure from that city attracted some notice recently, has been given by the court into the custody of Mrs. A. E. Wilson, No. 408 Ash street, Ventura, an aunt of Susie's mother, Mrs. J. H. Flowers of this city. The latter declares there is no truth in the report that the girl left San Diego in search of romance, as the police there stated, but that she was called by a telegram from herself. Mrs. Flowers was ill here at the time. Susie left a note for her father, Samuel Carlton of San Diego, and the latter asked the local police to apprehend the child and return her. Instead, Mrs. Flowers says, they accepted her explanation and turned the little girl over to her.

TRIES HARD TO SERVE COUNTRY.

Doctor-Clergyman Six Times Offers Himself and is as Often Rejected.

Rev. H. Warren Nice, doctor of osteopathy, wants to serve his country and so far as he can learn, his country won't let him. He has tried six times to give his services for the war and six times has been rejected.

Here is the record of his disappointments:

Applied to be an army chaplain; rejected because of age.

Volunteered to go to Europe with Col. Roosevelt, and of course, stayed here.

Applied for entrance to the first Reserve Officers' Training Camp and was refused because of the age limit.

Applied for entrance to the second training camp and was refused without any reason being given.

Enlisted with the War Work Council of the Y.M.C.A. in New York and is still on the waiting list.

Tried to enter the Medical Reserve Corps or Red Cross work in Europe and was rejected because he is an osteopath.

He has passed all physical examinations with flying colors, but is still waiting to hear that Uncle Sam needs him for something.

SCREEN STAR HURT IN AN AUTO CRASH.

PILOT OF OTHER CAR IS HELD FOR RECKLESSNESS.

Mary "McLaren" Suffers Concussion of the Brain when Motor is Demolished by Another Driven by Man Trying to Elude a Motorcycle Policeman.

Mary McDonald, better known to motion-picture fans as Mary "McLaren," 17-year-old film star, suffered concussion of the brain in an automobile accident yesterday afternoon at Sixth street and Serrano avenue. She was treated at the Receiving Hospital and later removed to the Good Samaritan Hospital.

In connection with the accident, J. H. Roth, No. 1406 South Bonnie Brae street, was arrested by Motorcycle Sergeant Cullen on a charge of reckless driving, and was placed in the City Jail. Sergt. Cullen was pursuing Roth, who was driving at fifty miles an hour north on Serrano street, it is said.

As Roth approached Sixth street, according to Sergt. Cullen, he failed to slacken speed. Miss McLaren, who was driving a car belonging to Craig Hutchinson, was going east on Sixth street. At Serrano avenue the Roth machine collided with the one driven by Miss McDonald and both automobiles were wrecked. Roth was uninjured.

DECRIES SCHOOL COST.

J. C. Steele of Santa Monica, who was active in the recent fight for annexation of that city to Los Angeles, yesterday sent to the Board of Supervisors a letter protesting against the money demands made by school officials of the seaside community. He says he questions the "advisability of such an unprecedented increase in the tax rate." Illustrating, he declares the amount asked for the Santa Monica High School is $62,996, an increase of $21,938 over last year's expenditure, though there will be a decrease of about fifty-three in the attendance.

FOR CANTONMENT WORK.

An order for 200 laborers for work at Camp Kearny, Linda Vista, was received yesterday by Supt. Clark of the Public Employment Bureau from William E. Hampton, the contractor. Blacksmiths, teamsters and carpenters are among those wanted. This is the first order for laborers received by the bureau for the Linda Vista camp.

Prefer Life of Savages to that of Soldiers in Army?

Henry Fetcher (left,) Marshal Sawyer of Upland, Herman Schnider.

Fetcher and Schnider were arrested as supposed draft dodgers in the hills back of Upland by Marshal Sawyer. The men were living the primitive life in a rude cabin which they had erected in Cucamonga Canyon.

"Conscientious Objectors."

ALLEGED SLACKERS HALED FROM ADAM-LIKE LIFE IN MOUNTAINS.

LONG-HAIRED, roughly-clad, barefooted and with their faces effectually masked by heavy growths of beard, two alleged draft dodgers were haled from an Adam-like existence in the mountains back of Upland yesterday. Both men are of German extraction and both claim religious scruples against war, insomuch that, the officers say, they apparently preferred the hardships of primitive existence to possible service in the army. They are Herman Schnider and Henry Fetcher.

Acting on a tip furnished by Deputy Loring Kirk, Marshal Jedd F. Sawyer of Upland, accompanied by Mr. Kirk, Deputy Ernest Mehl and Harold Rarich, made the arrests at the west fork of Cucamonga Canyon.

Schnider says he was born in the United States November 12, 1888. Fetcher says he was born in Germany in June, 1888, and that he has been in the United States but three years. Both men claim to belong to religious sects which exempt them from fighting. Fetcher says he did not register.

The suspicion of Deputy Kirk had been aroused a number of times of late by the peculiar actions of Fetcher, who was in the habit of making occasional visits down to the edge of civilization, picking up fruits, etc., from the near-by groves. Both men claim they consider it a sin to eat meat, or to take life in any manner.

They had deployed off from the regular trail into a small side canyon, and there had erected a crude cabin, having used whatever lumber they could find, claiming the Lord had assured them of this right, wherever they found materials. Their campsite boasts a small stream of water and they had a fairly good garden.

If the men really intended to escape army service by taking refuge in the hills the joke is on them, for their nationality would automatically protect them from the American draft Schnider was brought to Los Angeles yesterday and at once released on orders of Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson.

Kenneth Glendower Daring of Sierra Madre gave bond in $500 before United States Commissioner Hammack yesterday for his appearance for trial on the charge of having failed to respond to a call for examination by one of the local exemption boards.

Darling belongs, it is alleged, to what is known as the People's Council of America, of which former Senator Works is a leading light. He is also alleged to be a member of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, whose backers and friends claim that America is engaged in an unholy war. His case will be submitted to the Federal grand jury.

Chapman Puzzle.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED HERE AS SEQUEL TO DESERT TRAGEDY.

AN ECHO of the Mojave Desert murder mystery was brought to Los Angeles last night and a new element added to the unsolved Chapman puzzle when Hanford R. Scott and O. E. Emerson, together with two other men, were arrested in Venice and brought to Los Angeles to await the arrival of the San Bernardino officers, upon whose telegraphic instructions the men were taken into custody.

Scott and Emerson are wanted in San Bernardino the local authorities declare, in connection with the murder of Claud F. Chapman, a Chino auto stage owner, whose body was found on the desert a few miles outside of Klondike, San Bernardino county, about five weeks ago. A warrant for the arrest of Elmer C. Scott, believed by the officers to have been with Chapman at the time of the murder, was issued Hanford Scott, the officers say, is the brother of Elmer Scott, and Emerson is a friend of the former.

According to Deputy Sheriff Dan Murdock of Ludlow, Emerson was working there after the tragedy and sent a telegram to Hanford Scott at Williams, Ariz., reading as follows:

"Everything O. K. Come on."

Subsequently, according to Murdock, Scott was overheard to say that he did not know where his brother was, but that he would help him get away if he could.

Sheriff J. L. McMinn and Undersheriff F. G. McLain of San Bernardino left for Los Angeles immediately following the arrests in Venice, and were expected to reach here shortly after midnight.

In the automobile with Scott and Emerson at the time of their arrest were J. R. Towerl and George Chappel. They declare they have no connection with the case, being guests of the two men for a trip to the beach.

The four were taken into custody on Windward avenue by Lieut. Berkline and Officers Humphries and Pirott of the Venice police. The men were recognized by the Arizona number on the automobile they were driving, the number being forwarded to the Venice officials by the local officers. Deputy Sheriffs Moody and Cleveland brought the prisoners to Los Angeles where they were held for the San Bernardino officers.

SCOTT'S STORY.

According to Scott he and Emerson were on their way back to Williams, Ariz., fro mthe Mojave Desert where the two spent three weeks investigating the case. Hanford R. Scott worked on the theory that his brother and the second man known to have left Kingman in an automobile, were the two who drove to near Klondike, and the unnamed man murdered Scott. Chapman. Hanford Scott believes, had nothing to do with the case, and must have met his fate as the result of a different case.

It was to investigate his suspicions and to locate, if possible, his brother's body, that he took the trip to the scene of the crime, the prisoner stated last night.

He discovered several pieces of Twist of Fate.

"MURDERED" YEARS AGO; NOW IN HOSPITAL HERE.

J. W. ("BUD") TERRY, who was supposed to have been murdered near Heavener, Okla., ten years ago, and for whose "death" four men were tried and acquitted, has been found, much alive, at the County Hospital here.

And strange to say, Terry, for the first time, has just learned of his "murder," which stirred the Middle West a decade ago, and has written J. W. Patton of Heavener to that effect.

W. L. Bates, a sawmill man of Heavener; Will Stiles of Ratcliff, Ark.; Millard Vaughn and Louis McKibben of Mena, Ark., were arrested in November, 1910, seven years after a skeleton supposed to have been that of Terry was found. They were in jail at Poteau, Okla., six months and were tried jointly in May, 1911. The jury stood eleven to one for acquittal and was discharged for inability to agree.

At the November term of court at Poteau they took a severance and the State elected to try Stiles, who now lives at Stilwell, Okla. He was acquitted and the State dismissed the charges against the other three. At the previous terms, the defendants refused to plead guilty to manslaughter and accept a three-year term, which would have brought them immediate liberty, as the FULL QUOTA TO BE IN PARADE.

Over Three Thousand Drafted Men in Line Saturday.

Final Details Completed for Big Military Send-off.

Women to Have Large Part in Programme at Park.

The "National Defenders" celebration committee met yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce and perfected arrangements for the big celebration and parade to be held next Saturday in honor of the men who have been drafted for the new national army. The parade, which will consist exclusively of military organizations, will form on Olive street between Eighth and Pico streets, the side streets being utilized for the different units to perfect their organizations.

Each unit of the draft army will be in command of the leader appointed by their respective boards. The committee wired the Western Department yesterday asking that the various units of the army, encamped adjacent to Los Angeles, be permitted to take part in the parade. The Navy Department also will be communicated with to have all naval units also participate.

The parade will assemble at 12:30 and will start promptly at 1:15, going east on Eighth to Broadway, thence north to First, east on First to Spring, south on Spring to Sixth, east on Sixth to the Pacific Electric depot, where the men will entrain and, by the courtesy of the Pacific Electric Company, be transported to Exposition Park.

An elaborate programme has been arranged for their entertainment, including a barbecue and other courtesies which will be extended by the patriotic organizations of the city. The women, headed by Mrs. E. E. Leighton, who has secured the cooperation of all the women's organizations of the city, have a series of special features arranged for the boys.

At Expositon Park there will be at least three platforms on which various stunts will be presented. There will be thirteen bands, fourteen moving-picture companies and various booths at which the boys will be treated to delicacies.

The parade will be confined exclusively to military organizations, with the exception of the police escort. Each man who has been certified for military service by the district board will receive an invitation and an arm badge. After reaching the grounds he will, upon presentation of his invitation, be presented with a bronze medal.

It is estimated that fully 2500 men, more than the city's own full quota, will be in line, as nearly that many names have been certified to the district board from Los Angeles and vicinity. The names will be secured from the district board and the men will each receive a special invitation.

The modification of the draft law,

FIRST MEN OF THE LOS ANGELES ARMY.

City district No. 17 met last night and selected its first 5 per cent. quota, thirty soldiers, for the new Liberty Army to be sent to American Lake, Wash., on September 5. The contingent will be sent under the leadership of David R. Richardson, secretary to Thomas Lee Woolwine, District Attorney. Mr. Richardson was last night authorized by the board to make arrangements for the transportation of thirty men over the Southern Pacific to the cantonment, to leave Los Angeles September 5. They are the first men actually and definitely named as part of the Los Angeles army.

The men of the first contingent were picked with special reference to their qualifications. They include cooks, mechanics, meat cutters and men who have had previous military experience. There has been a number of applications from men in this district to be allowed to go with the first contingent, as it is expected that those who make good in the early stages of the camp's organization will have a fair chance to win commissions on merit, as it has been intimated that many of the men in the first draft will be selected as officers if they show the right qualifications. The serial numbers are not observed in the first 5 per cent.

EDITOR LOSES APPEAL.

As Result of Ruling of Appellate Body, Dana Sleeth Must Now Either Pay Fine Imposed by Judge or Carry Case to Supreme Court.

Dana W. Sleeth, editor of the Record, was the loser yesterday by a decision of the District Court of Appeal denying his petition for a writ of review of the judgment of Superior Judge Finlayson, finding him guilty of contempt of court. There was no opinion accompanying the judgment.

It was alleged in behalf of Mr. Sleeth that the court had no jurisdiction; that the contempt, if contempt it was, was committed outside the immediate presence of the court, and that there was no complaint against him in the case, except the affidavit of one R. S. Clark. Other irregularities were charged also. The petition also asked that the transcript of the evidence taken in the hearing be furnished.

With this judgment there is nothing for Mr. Sleeth to do but pay the $200 fine imposed or appeal to the State Supreme Court.

STOOL-PIGEON METHODS CALLED CURSE OF CITY.

Council, However, Dodges Direct Action in the Vice Inquiry.

AFTER hearing heated arguments pro and con on questions relating to methods employed by the police department for the suppression of vice, particularly as applied to arresting immoral women, the Council yesterday referred the matter to the Public Safety Commission for investigation.

The Council chamber never was so jammed, and enthusiasm was marked with an earnest desire to find the proper way of handling the big subject. Ministers of the gospel discussed the problem and were not unanimous in their opinions. The judiciary and the laity also were represented in the debate, and they, too, disagreed on many points.

However, all factions represented agreed upon the two essential features of the problem, as follows:

That the practice of stool-pigeon methods—if any exist—shall not be tolerated.

That the metropolitan or so-called purity squad shall be maintained.

FAITH IN MAYOR.

There were salient conclusions reached by Mayor Woodman, whose message upon the subject was read to the Council by Secretary MacWilliams, being an answer to the letter written by Police Judge White condemning the police department for its manner in securing evidence against women of the underworld.

Drs. Brougher and Locke of the Temple Baptist and First Methodist churches, respectively, expressed utmost confidence in the integrity of Mayor Woodman and Chief Butler, and highly complimented them for their stand for a clean city. They said the decent people of Los Angeles believe in the Mayor and Chief and would not turn against them even if a mistake had been made in the handling of a problem with which generations for many centuries have battled and never satisfactorily solved.

When Justice White painted a graphic picture of the vicissitudes of fallen women and bitterly assailed the method used by a member of the metropolitan squad to secure evidence against a colored woman, he presented an argument which everyone accepted as unanswerable, and one denied its logic. The jurist, however, having predicated his remarks with the assertion that he is not against the suppression of vice and would not advocate the discharge of the metropolitan squad, left the question undebatable.

Mayor Woodman said in his message:

"When I assumed control of the office of Mayor, one of the first orders promulgated was that the system of stool pigeons should be abolished, and that no stool pigeons should be retained in the department under any guise. I have continuously insisted that the department recognize no double standard, and that violators of the law, regardless of their financial or social position, should be used alike.

"Every person is entitled to justice. It is not the province of the police department to tempt people to do wrong. Our orders are strictly to the contrary."

MUST BE CLEAN.

Upon the question of whether Los Angeles shall be kept as morally clean as possible, the Mayor said:

"There should be no hesitancy on the part of any official of this city in declaring absolutely and unequivocally that under no circumstances will there be the slightest deviation from the determination that Los Angeles shall be kept clean.

"Any other position than the above will cause the vicious element of the country to seek this city, and in that event will demand A large expenditure of the taxpayers' money to keep them within bounds.

"I desire that official notice shall go to every community in the United States that there will be no backward step taken by the city of Los Angeles in any manner; that the law will be enforced to the letter, and that we shall use every legitimate means within our power to see that Los Angeles is kept a clean and moral city."

The Mayor referred to the public appeal made by Secretary of War Baker for the protection of the soldier boys from women of the underworld and declared he is patriotic enough to carry out the suggestions to far as possible. He referred to the fact that Los Angeles is seeking a cantonment site and if it ever is accepted by the government he wants the city to be in position to do its part, morally and otherwise.

Letters from Chief Butler and Sergt. Hackett, the latter in command of the Metropolitan Squad, were read. The Chief asserted that his only purpose is to wipe out the vicious element in so far as it is possible. He emphatically denied that he ever had instructed the squad to use city money for the purpose of luring women into questionable houses, and said if any officer is found guilty of such a practice he would be handled in summary manner. He said the members of the Metropolitan Squad are supplied with money to carry on their investigations, but not to lure women.

Sergt. Hackett entered a general denial to the charge.

Robert C. Barton, executive secretary of the Morals Efficiency Commission, said he has been in close touch with the activities of the Metropolitan Squad and he is satisfied that the method commonly known as stool-pigeon work is not practiced by any of its members.

In support of Police Judge White's contention, Mrs. Clara Shortridge Foltz spoke from the woman's viewpoint. She deprecated the spending of city money to lure the fallen women into rooms, and her remarks were received with applause.

After the matter had been thoroughly threshed out, members of the Council expressed their views.

Councilman Farmer said:

"I know Chief Butler and Billy Hackett are on the square and I am perfectly willing to let them handle their own business."

Councilman Criswell: "We are all in favor of enforcement of the law, but I am positively opposed to the stool-pigeon method of securing evidence against these women or for any other purpose. Let the organizations who favor these methods furnish the money and the stool pigeons."

Councilman Mallard: "I agree with Mr. Criswell and I won't sign a warrant for the appropriation of funds for such purposes."

Councilman Conway: "We can't keep the city clean if we don't place entire confidence in our Mayor and Chief of Police. We must give full scope. We should support the Mayor and Chief Butler."

Councilman Olsen: "I want to go farther into this case. It is a bigger question than has developed here today. I want to investigate rumors of vices in cafes."

President Conwell did not express his views, but after the hearing said it was his opinion that the operation of the police department lies within the jurisdiction of the Mayor and not the Council.

OCCULTIST AT REST.

Inquest into the Death of Church Student Who Succumbed While Under Influence of Ether Will Precede Funeral This Forenoon.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Bohan, of No. 612 Wall street, who passed away last Saturday, will be held at 11 o'clock this forenoon at the chapel of Bresee Brothers, Ninth and Figueroa streets. The services will be conducted by Rev. Myrtle Hoagland, pastor of the Church of the Occult Science of the Christ, of which the deceased was a devoted member. She had been a student in the institution conducted by Pastor Hoagland for the past year or more.

An inquest is to be held at 10 o'clock this morning by the Coroner. It is understood Mrs. Bohan died under the influence of ether while about to submit to an operation for the removal of her tonsils.

Mrs. Bohan had resided in Los Angeles for fifteen years. She leaves one daughter, Miss Kate Bohan.

JUDGE DEFINES ABANDONMENT.

Father Loses Guardianship Fight when it is Shown He Didn't Support Son.

Failure to support his son after a separation from his wife practically constitutes abandonment, Judge Wellborn ruled yesterday in appointing Attorney Hugh T. Gordon guardian of Phelps S. Moore, 7 years old.

The father, Charles W. Moore, a New York jeweler, came to Los Angeles to seek the guardianship of his son. It appears that Mrs. Moore obtained a divorce decree here, and on her deathbed asked Attorney Gordon to care for her boy.

WAGES RAISED.

Laborers in County Road Department Benefit by Change.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday directed the County Counsel to prepare an ordinance increasing the pay of the laborers in the road department 50 cents a day. This increase will automatically cease at the close of the war. The laborers were leaving the road department for other employment where the wages are higher. The increase will affect several hundred men.

SAY HE IS BANKRUPT.

A petition was filed in the United States District Court yesterday asking that James M. Darmody be adjudged a bankrupt. The petitioning creditors are Haas, Baruch & Co., H. Jevne Company, M. A. Newmark & Co., S. Bachman Cigar Company and the Klingenstein Company. They alleged that Mr. Darmody has committed various acts of bankruptcy in selling goods to creditors who are not preferred.

Reply.

POLICE JUDGE CHESEBRO DEFENDS PURITY SQUAD.

REPLYING to a recent statement of Police Judge White condemning alleged stool-pigeon methods of the police Metropolitan Squad, which is charged with the apprehension of fallen women, Police Judge Chesebro yesterday issued a statement defending the squad and declaring its methods necessary to the moral cleanliness of the city.

"To abolish the Metropolitan Squad," he said, "would mean a wide-open town in sixty days. The news would travel like wild fire and in a few weeks Los Angeles would face a problem similar to that encountered in many eastern and middle western cities."

He declared the time-honored stool pigeon is now obsolete, as all enlightened police officials agree that a shadowy person does not help uplift any community. But he explains the methods of the Metropolitan or "Purity" Squad are not those of the stool pigeon.

"Today," his statement says, "the methods employed are to take some marked money, go to a street frequented by outcast women and there agree with one of them to go to a rooming-house. There the officer gives the woman the marked money and she is arrested on a charge of violating the rooming-house ordinance.

"That is the only method we can employ. Justice White proposes a system of espionage by which an officer would watch a suspected woman until she should meet a man and go to a room with him. Then the arrest would be made, but the policeman would have to prove that the arrested people were not married. If every man and woman so arrested would stand pat, no convictions could be secured.

"Contrary to impression, under present methods no officer is going onto the street and commit a felony by luring an innocent girl to a rooming-house.

"Under the system that obtains I shall hear every case that is brought before me before I shall determine whether it shall be thrown out of court."

MENACE ENTERS ALIMONY CASE.

Lawyer Says Wife Threatened to Kill Husband.

But He Spoke Ungentlemanly Words, is Retort.

Mere Man Wins First Round of Divorce Battle.

Alimony proceedings before Judge Avery in the separate-maintenance suit of Mrs. Mary A. Dobbins against Timothy C. Dobbins, a prominent electrical engineer, bordered on the tragic yesterday afternoon when Attorney Cassell, who, with Earl Rogers, represents Mr. Cassell, told the court that Mrs. Dobbins had threatened to kill Mr. Dobbins. The retort to this by Mrs. Dobbins's counsel was that Mr. Dobbins had used language no man calling himself a gentleman would utter.

The story appears to be that Mr. Dobbins wanted his personal things. He says Mrs. Dobbins invited him to her house and then turned the hose on him. He obtained a court order to get them, and again she invited him to the house, pulled a gun on him and made threats to kill.

It also appears that Mr. Dobbins has invented a tire. He wanted his wife's car to demonstrate the tire, but she would not give it up.

Yesterday Judge Avery granted Mr. Dobbins's order to get the car and other personal things, restrained him from disposing of the property pending the trial of the suit, and restrained Mrs. Dobbins from interfering with him.

In her complaint Mrs. Dobbins charges her husband with thinking too much of Marion Gibson. Mr. Dobbins says his wife introduced him to the woman; then trailed him with detectives and saw her with him in his automobile. The court granted Mrs. Dobbins alimony of $50 a month.

THE DAST OF EARTH.

PAY FOR DAMAGED GOODS.

Film Actor Held Liable for Articles in Rented Home.

Francis Ford, film star, was defendant in a damage suit, tried in Justice Palmer's court yesterday, in which George G. Hunt and Mrs. Harriet H. Hunt were seeking to collect $250 for alleged damages to articles in their house, which was rented, furnished, by Mr. Ford. The court ordered ordered Mr. Ford to pay to the plaintiffs $121.25. Notice of an appeal was given.

The house in question is a pretty bungalow on Lexington avenue, Hollywood, and was rented by Mr. Ford for $100 per month.

SAVED FROM THE SEA.

Boy who Nearly Lost Life in Shipwreck Returning on Transport.

Deputy United States Marshal Bell received word from the Navy Department yesterday that his son, Russell Bell, left Nagasaki last Monday aboard a United States transport and will be in San Francisco about September 12.

Young Bell left Los Angeles last February for Shanghai to accept a position with the Standard Oil Company. But the steamer in which he was making the trip from Nagasaki to Shanghai was wrecked off the Chinese coast, and Bell had a narrow escape with his life. His father, through the influence of Congressman Denver S. Church, secured an order to bring the boy home on a transport.

ECHO OF GAMBLING.

Mike Zelo and Mike Radoo were arraigned in Justice Hanby's court yesterday and held to answer on charges of mayhem and assault with a deadly weapon, respectively. The two men, Austrians, were arrested as a result of a free-for-all fight following a gambling game last May. Radoo, it is said, drew a revolver and Zelo bit his ear.

Parents Announce Engagement.

The engagement of Miss Herminia Julia Orena, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dario Orena, to Mr. Eugene Leard Bobb of Los Angeles, is announced. No date has been set for the marriage, but it is expected to take place in the fall. Miss Orena is spending the summer at La Lomita, the Orena summer residence at Los Alamos, Santa Barbara county. The Orena family is one of the oldest in California, having been prominently identified with the earlier days of San Francisco's society. Their home, there, in the old South Park residence district, was famous for lavish entertainment. Mrs. Dario Orena was the daughter of Saladonia Ortiz.

Miss Elmira Rice of Inglewood and Willis Hunter of San Francisco were united in marriage at the residence of the bride's father, Eugene Rice, in Inglewood, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The bride, who is a graduate of Westlake School for Girls and Oberlin School of Music, was attired in a gown of heavy white silk with veil held in place by a band of pearls. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Sutie Putnam of Inglewood acted as maid of honor. She wore a gown of yellow silk, and carried yellow roses and blue butterfly delphiniums. Harold Fletcher of Pasadena attended the groom as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, after a short honeymoon in Southern California, will make their home in San Francisco where Mr. Hunter is engaged in business.

PLEA TO WOMEN.

Campaign to Secure Their Names To Pledge for Conservation of Food Opens Tomorrow; Registration Cards Now Are Ready.

The Woman's Executive Committee of the County Council of Defense met yesterday afternoon at its headquarters, 359 Court House, with Dr. Jessie A. Russell, chairman, presiding, and made final plans for the food pledge campaign. It is expected that every part of Los Angeles County will be reached in this movement.

The "drive" to secure signatures of women to the pledge to conserve food, as requested by Mr. Hoover, will begin tomorrow morning, and will continue until the close of September 5, when all the pledges will be turned into headquarters.

The Committee has received from national headquarters the official registration cards for women. These are for an enrollment of women who are willing and able to perform various services for the government. The cards will be held at headquarters and women are requested to call there and sign them. Those who now have cards out are requested to send them in immediately. The headquarters will be open daily from 9 to 5 o'clock.

IT IS LA VERNE NOW.

The change of the name of Lordsburg to La Verne, which was voted on by the citizens some time ago, was made official yesterday when the city of La Verne filed a certificate of the change with the Supervisors. The city is in the heart of the citrus-fruit country.

WILL LEARN FRENCH.

Free French lessons for the drafted men of Glendale, Tropico, Eagle Rock and surrounding districts are to be given twice weekly at the Glendale Chamber of Commerce by Mrs. Nanno Woods.

Four Men Arrested.

jewelry and two partly burned suit cases, together with other evidence, which he turned over to the San Bernardino authorities before coming to Los Angeles. Hanford Scott stated last night. He claims to own a ranch near Williams, and have absolutely no connection with the case other than his interest in the fate that befell his brother.

STORY OF CRIME.

Intrigue, jealousy, love and a freak of fate that caused the alleged murder car to collide with another automobile twenty miles from the scene of the crime—these were some of the elements that formed and yet partly clarified the mystery surrounding the murder.

When the desert gave up the body of the unknown man the San Bernardino authorities were faced with one of the most mysterious murder cases on record there. The identification of the body as that of Chapman was the first clew. The body was identified after several days' effort by W. G. Osborn of Anaheim, father-in-law of the murdered man.

Then the investigators learned Chapman and a man then known to them under the name of Emil C. Scott left Kingman, Ariz., July 14, headed for San Bernardino. The two started on their trip across the desert in an automobile belonging to a Miss Ollie West of Chloride. On July 22 Chapman, who had been dead several days, was found 200 yards from the road, where his body was dragged and left in an old wash. The automobile was found twenty miles away. It evidently collided with another machine and was abandoned by its driver.

ANOTHER STORY.

Sheriff McMinn and Deputy Sheriff Murdock, who were conducting the investigation, then succeeded in locating Miss West. She came to the scene of the crime and was questioned by the officers. She bared her connection with the case and reiterated her belief that Scott was innocent of the crime. Miss West injected the further element of mystery by hysterically declaring Scott was the murdered man.

After being questioned the young woman was allowed to return to her Arizona home, and shortly afterward a warrant charging Scott with the murder of Chapman was issued.

HOLTVILLE STIRRED.

Residents of City Clamor for the Indictment of Boys and Men Who Are Alleged to be Mixed Up in the Ruin of a Couple of Young Women.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

HOLTVILLE, Aug. 27.—Residents of this city are clamoring for grand jury indictments against twelve men and one woman named by Irene Carpenter, 15 years old, and Frances Bollinger, 17, whose stories of mistreatment have stirred the city to its depths. Homer Gregg, 22 and Claude Bryant, 29, are held in the County Jail on $4000 bail, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of the girls. Two more arrests are expected tomorrow.

Other men named by the girls are so prominent in the city that the officers have thrown up their hands and placed the matter in the District Attorney's hands. He will call the grand jury, it is expected, within a short time. The woman in the case is declared to have told the girls to "enjoy yourself while you are young, and if you get into any trouble come to me and I will help you out." She is a prominent society matron, whose name is being kept secret by the police.

Fishes that Carry Venom.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger:] If you a-fishing go anywhere along the New England coast this summer, you are more likely than not to catch a Cape Cod minister.

Such, one regrets to say, is the disrespectful name given to a particularly hideous kind of fish, about six inches long, that is an angler's plague in those waters. It is mostly mouth, and nobody, so far as known, has ever tried to eat it.

Its other name is "toadfish"—which, descriptively speaking, is not inappropriate. At worst, it is harmless.

But there is another species of toadfish, native to the waters along our southern coasts, that is very dangerous. It carries on its back, just behind the head, two spines that are hollow and connect at their bases with venom glands.

The whole arrangement, indeed, is structurally very similar to that of the twin fangs in the upper jaw of a rattlesnake, with the venom glands thereto pertaining.

Experiments have proved that pressure on these spines causes them readily to eject their venom, which is thrown out with such force as to squirt for a distance of two feet.

There is no question of the dangerous character of the glandular secretion, and Dr. Barton A. Bean of the Smithsonian Institution, who has made a study of this toadfish, is inclined to believe the fishermen's stories of deaths caused by careless handling of specimens captured.

HEARING NEARS END.

Another Day is to be Occupied by the Defense That is Offering Evidence to Refute Grave Charges Affecting the Receiving Hospital.

Charges of inefficiency and neglect filed against Chief Surgeon Gilmer and his staff of the Receiving Hospital were refuted yesterday by several witnesses called before the public safety committee of the City Council. Attorney Gesner Williams, representing the defendants, said another day will be required to get all his evidence before the committee. The hearing will be resumed tomorrow.

Dr. Gilmer will probably be the last witness. He will be asked to explain two cases involving money transactions. One of them relates to the transfer of a woman to the California Hospital more than twelve hours after she had been received at the Receiving Hospital. In the former institution Dr. Gilmer operated upon her for a fractured skull and sent the family a bill for $150. The other case was reported by Japanese. They said Dr. Gilmer removed a patient to the California Hospital and charged more than $2000 for services and hospital conveniences. Dr. Gilmer says he is in a position to explain both transactions.

Five witnesses testified yesterday to the good character of Mrs. Solomon, who complained of treatment she received at the Receiving Hospital.

Chief of Police Butler and Capt. Flammer testified they had heard of no complaints against Dr. Gilmer or his staff.

Angeleno Meets Two Strangers in San Diego Who Induce Him to Put Up His Money to Show Faith in Charity Plan and He Loses All.

Angelo Reazz, who lives at Ord and San Fernando streets, last night told Detective Frank Carroll that charity, instead of beginning at home, should be left alone altogether. It cost him $135 to take an interest in the scheme by which the poor were to be benefited and their sufferings alleviated.

Reazz, it appears, met two strangers in San Diego who talked nothing but charity. Reazz became interested, and agreed to help them distribute a sum of money they had to give away to the poor. Reazz was to take active part in the giving away, and, somehow was induced to put up $135 in cash as a guarantee of good faith. Now the police are searching for the two bunko men.

DEVELOPMENT AGENT PLACED IN COMMAND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

EL CENTRO, Aug. 27.—After calling 2500 men for examination the local Exemption Board believes it has the Imperial county quota of 653 men ready for service. The board is still working on exemptions, but even if it allows the exemptions asked the quota will be reached. Arthur M. Nelson, county development agent, who has been drafted and who refused to ask exemption, will be placed in command of the first contingent of young men to leave here for American Lake, on September 5.

COSTLY LITTLE STROLL.

A two-block stroll with two women last night cost A. C. Peck of San Fernando $70. He met them at Fifth and Los Angeles streets and walked with them to Fifth and Wall streets. Then they parted. Shortly afterward Mr. Peck discovered that his pocketbook still was with him, but the money that was in it but a few minutes before was missing. That is his story to the police.

MAY COMMIT SUICIDE.

Fearing she was about to commit suicide, James M. Wilson of No. 945 West Fifty-first place last night appealed to the police for help in locating Mrs. H. C. Wilson, who disappeared from home before noon. He said Mrs. Wilson, who is 38 years old, left a note addressed to her mother, saying she intended to commit suicide.

OUTING FOR YACHTMEN.

A three-day annual stag cruise is on the programme of the South Coast Yacht Club for the coming week-end, including Monday (Labor Day.) After starting at will, Saturday afternoon, yachts will gather at White's Landing. Neither the usual commissary or camp fire will be provided this year. Each owner is expected to provide his own sustenance and pro rate the cost among his guests.

FORMER FILM STAR WILL BE TRIED AS A VAGRANT.

MARGARET GIBSON, former motion-picture star, who was arrested last Saturday afternoon in a raid on an alleged house of ill fame at No. 432½ Commercial street by Officers Trebilcock and Douglas, was yesterday arraigned before Police Judge White on a charge of lewdness. Her case was set for trial October 12. Miss Gibson pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. She is at liberty on $250 bail.

She and three other women were arrested Saturday evening after two houses—one at No. 442½ Commercial street and the other at No. 432½—had been under surveillance for several days. According to the police, no less than seventy-one Japanese entered the two buildings in three hours Saturday afternoon a week ago.

Joe Peppa, said to be an opium smuggler and well known to the police, was arrested yesterday and taken before Police Judge White by Officers Trebilcock and Douglas. He was remanded to jail in default of $250 bail. He also is charged with lewdness, and the police suspect him of having some connection with Miss Gibson's case. He will be tried October 27.

E. Echikima, M. T. Hashimoto, T. Sondad and K. Fugi, Japanese, arrested in the Commercial-street raid, pleaded guilty to resorting to a house of ill fame and were fined $25 each by Justice White yesterday.

Miss Pearl Young and Miss Ruth Slauson, also arrested in the raid, were held for trial before Police Judge Chesebro in the women's court. Miss Young will be tried September 30 and Miss Slauson September 29.

Lola Rieves, also arrested in the raid, was charged with conducting a disorderly house. She pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial, which will be given her September 25. Robert Rodrigues, charged with vagrancy, will be tried September 29, as will E. Nodena and Manuel Vega, similarly charged.

Complaints charging Ralph and Frank Rodrigues with keeping their wives in disorderly houses probably will be sworn to by the arresting officers today.

LAEMMLE RETURNS,

UNIVERSAL HEAD GOES TO BAT FOR CLEAN FILMS.

By Grace Kingsley.

Filled with enthusiasm over California and incidentally Universal's future, Carl Laemmle, president of the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, arrived from New York yesterday.

On being interviewed, Mr. Laemmle went right to bat for the clean, wholesome photoplays, which, he stated, were bound to appeal to the better element of society. Also, hereafter the feminine form does not exist so far as U is concerned. He said that so far as the nude in pictures was concerned, neither he nor Universal had any use for it. He did not state whether or not he had seen "Sirens of the Sea."

The Universal president brought with him from New York a number of new stories by well-known authors, and these are to be made into feature productions in which the leading luminaries of the company are to appear.

"Comedy will prevail to a large extent in the forthcoming photoplays," said Mr. Laemmle. "These are serious times, you know, and in their diversion the people must find much of the lighter side of life. That's the reason we are going to inject all the comedy we can into our future productions."

Mr. Laemmle, when asked if the mobilization of the Liberty Army would not have a serious effect upon the ranks of the young men who play the leads in Universal pictures, replied: "We are now engaged in developing young men under the draft age to take the places of our leading men who have been called to the colors. For a time there was every indication that the necessity of filling Uncle Sam's wants would cripple us as far as the leading men were concerned, but we hit upon the idea of replacing them with the younger men, and we are meeting with gratifying success."

Mr. Laemmle said that the motion-picture industry is in a most prosperous condition, new theaters being constructed in every part of this country and in the Canadian dominions, thus causing a corresponding increase in the product of the various manufacturing concerns.

"We are going full tilt, day and night," said Mr. Laemmle, "and one of the objects of my visit at this time is to arrange for doubling the capacity of the laboratories at Universal City so that we will have no difficulty in meeting the ever-increasing demand. We are doing an unusually large business with China, Japan, India and Australia just now, and Universal films are being transported to twenty-one different foreign countries, our agents having met with wonderful success in the countries across the seas where American films have become so popular. It is our intention to send several companies to the Orient in the near future to film on an elaborate scale a number of pictures in the atmosphere of the Far East."

The Superba management, at which theater the Bluebird Universal features are shown, according to announcement made last night, after arrangements being made with Mr. Laemmle, is to show, besides these Bluebirds, other Universal attractions of unusual merit, the first of which will be "Pay Me," starring Dorothy Phillips.

Orpheum.

Do you like a sketch, or a dancing act, or just kidding, or a scrambling of all three? You'll find every sort of act on the Orpheum bill this week—something for every taste, as the cannibal chief said when he passed the missionary around.

Of course it depends on your taste, too, which you consider the headliner. There is an act which calls itself "The Headliners," but has the modesty to use quotation marks. This is a clever little burlesque on the small-time vaudeville stuff, with an impudent young fellow in checked clothes, an "angel" in gray clothes, and a cute little girl who adroitly turns her street dress into an evening gown in which to do her "turn." Harry B. Toomer, Frank Merrill, Esther Drew and Frank Mitchell participate.

That dainty and vivacious little pocket Venus, Kathleen Clifford, yesterday donned the "chappie" scenery for the first time in seven months, and, while she declared she was very nervous, she pleased mightily with her lively and graceful dancing, her "shadow-growing" and her songs, which were all, except her patriotic and Hawaiian numbers, the songs with which she had made a hit in London music halls. Harry McCoy wrote the patriotic number, and this she called the blushing Harry from the audience to lead. It's a wonderfully catchy little song, too, by the way, one you can quite fancy "the Sammies" marching to "over there."

No bill is quite complete without its patriotic number, nowadays, and "America First" is a splendidly spectacular thing, consisting of three scenes representing West Point Military Academy, the foredeck of the U.S.S. "Pennsylvania" and an encampment scene "somewhere in the United States." Ten boys and two very pretty girls take part in singing, dancing and brass-band playing. The routine is well arranged, and adroitly done to get the maximum of thrilling and stirring effect. Some people walked out on the act, yesterday—it has the closing spot—but this is rather a reflection on these persons than on the act itself.

There is one thing that is very wonderful about the act of Helene Hamilton and Jack Barnes, and that is the amount of close and interested attention the girl manages to give that boy's line of conversation! These are two good-looking and very attractive young people. Why don't they get some good material instead of using jokes like this: "No, I'm not drafted; I'm granted exemption. I've got dandruff."

Austin Webb and company are back with "Hit the Trail," which scores just as heavily as before. It is intended, one fancies, to give an idea of Billy Sunday as he appears behind the scenes—if, indeed, one ever sees the real Billy, even behind the scenes!

George White and Emma Haig repeat their triumph of last week in their dancing act, with a "request" feature added, which pleases the crowd immensely. Bert Melrose continues to fall on schedule time from his high tables, and the three Jahns are as muscularly alert as ever.

Tally's Broadway.

To such persons as have a refined taste—a taste forever above their pocket-books—persons with Shaw appetites and Keystone comedy incomes—to these, picture plays of the caliber of "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," as the same is being done at Tally's Broadway this week, are indeed a boon.

Even to such as have seen the play, the photoplay will appeal, as the Vitagraph has given of its best in this authoritative and excellently played rendition of the brilliant Pinero play. It is no number two company one sees here, either, for two of England's best-known players, Sir George Alexander and Hilda Moore, play the leading roles. Miss Moore looks very much as did Mrs. Patrick Campbell when the latter played the part on the stage, by the way, and the acting is along the lines of artistic restraint which are traditional in the playing of the piece. So closely is the drama followed, that even certain of the dialogue is quoted.

Miss Moore's "Paula," struggling in the waters of life which soon are to grow too turbulent for the steering of her frail craft, is a characterization of delicate lights and shades, the white flame of passion for her husband a holy light against the glow of her red past.

The ending is pitilessly logical, with the forgiveness of the young step-daughter coming too late, and suggesting by the contrast of her healthful soul with the sick soul of the older woman, how ineffectual and short-lived such forgiveness would have been, no matter what its superficial sincerity.

A wonderfully beautiful production has been given the picture.

Clune's Auditorium.

Going on Jerome K. Jerome's principle that a good, old-fashioned clump over the head often cures a patient, Douglas Fairbanks has gone ahead in "Down to Earth," which is the rib-tickling offering at Clune's Auditorium this week, and given us a story of a sanatorium whose patients and the good will of the place are sold out to a husky son of nature.

All the patients are "hypos," suffering principally from too much money. Just because his best girl has been sent there on account of a nervous break-down brought about by too much society life, "Doug" comes from his far western ranch to see her. He takes the whole sanatorium full of patients a-boating on his yacht, plans a wreck, and shipwrecks them all on a desert island. Here the fat woman is made to crawl like a serpent, the liver-y patient is made to climb trees like a monkey, the dyspeptic grouch is forced to sing and flap his wings like a bird. Of course everybody gets well under the treatment, and then lo, one day, the "wild" man set to guard the passage way to the other side of the island is discovered asleep, and one of the patients finds they've never been on an island at all, but only a mile away from one of their best little summer resorts!

Anita Loos's sub-titles are brilliantly amusing, as usual. In fact for hitting the bull eye of whimsical humor, I don't know her equal anywhere.

GENERAL REVIEWS.

Hippodrome.

As promised in the advance notices the programme at the Hippodrome is a complete list of winners without a dull moment. As an introduction Julia Edwards, with a versatile offering of character songs, rings and trapeze work, proves capital. Blanche Le Duc and a clever young man purvey some relishable songs, nonsensical talk and whirlwind dancing to good results. "Trouble in an Old Depot," with a funny black-face comedian, is offered to big laugh results by Alice Nelson and company. With stirring reminders on drums, fife, violin and 'cello, the Four Old Veterans, sturdy survivors of the days of '61 to '65 score a big hit. Clever nonsense is unfolded in the offering of Arthur La Vine and company in "From Coney Island to the North Pole." Daisy Harcourt, the popular English comedienne, with a new and inimitable style, is another item in the hit column, and Don Roberts and company complete the list with cannon ball juggling in capital order. Hearst-Pathe News as usual is included.

Beau Brummel Comes to Town.

Kathleen Clifford,

"The smartest boy" deserts motion pictures to do her famous impersonations at the Orpheum this week.

NONOGENARIAN DIES AT VENTURA HOME.

VENTURA, Aug. 27.—Mrs. Feliciana Carion Botiller, 96 years old, passed away last night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. B. Fazio. She was a descendant of the Spanish nobility which governed this territory in early history.

She was born in Santa Barbara and her early days were spent there. She lived in this city over thirty years. She belonged to a family noted for longevity, one sister having lived to the age of 94. Ten children were born to her of whom she leaves the following: Mrs. J. Kulman, Mrs. A. LaLouritte and Mrs. Bernaldine Fazio of this city; Mrs. G. Fraud of Santa Barbara, and Mrs. Joaquin Botiller of El Rio. She also leaves forty-five grandchildren and twenty great grandchildren.

In Hospital Here.

three-years' time limit for that offense had expired.

McKibben turned State's evidence against his co-defendants and together with Sam Belder, then serving a term in the Oklahoma penitentiary for horse stealing, which he said he had agreed to accept to escape trial for participation in the alleged murder of Terry, testified against the defendants.

Belder testified that Terry was slain by Bates in a fight while the party, including the witness, was en route to Bates's sawmill from Mena. He said Terry's body was buried beneath a pile of sawdust and later his clothing was changed for wornout garments and the body placed in a wilderness. The skeleton was found late in the summer of 1913.

Terry yesterday asserted that he is the same "Bud" Terry who worked for Bates from April to August, 1907 and that he left his employ to go to Texas for his health. Terry says he spent ten years in that state, coming to California in April, 1907. Since April 29, last, he has been confined in the County Hospital here, suffering from tuberculosis.

TIGERS ARRIVE FOR HOT SERIES.

The Tigers arrived here from the north yesterday and began resting up for the series with Portland which starts tomorrow. Mitchell and Callahan, who remained home to nurse injuries, are in shape to rejoin the club.

NET SHARKS ENJOY OUTING.

Mending tires by the wayside, opening and closing gates, bribing game deputies, running into stray cattle, buncoing old lady tourists, viewing roadside accidents, leaving home without hooks or ammunition—these were the accomplishments of Frank Wiane and R. C. Callahan, local tennis players of merit, on their week-end "hunting" trip to Conejo. In the party were also C. E. Cole, Mrs. Callahan and Miss Ara Callahan, but no coffee, as was discovered when camp was made. Wiane never knows when to stop, so announces that he will soon take another vacation.

SPIKE-BUCK KILLERS.

Killers of spike bucks have been getting into difficulties up Santa Barbara way. Deputy Fish and Game Commissioner Henry J. Abels telephoned yesterday from that city that he had convicted two offenders of this class and would proceed against another this morning. Saturday a man with no license was convicted and fined at Lompoc. Carcasses and hides with evidence of sex removed are prima facie evidence of violation in this State. The hunter is required to keep proof of the legality of his buck ten days longer than the season lasts. The horns and part of the head bearing them must be produced on demand.

DOVES SOON TO EXIT.

From the somewhat heavier-than-usual flight of doves to the south this season some hunters look for the gray birds to "beat it" to the hills, their winter home, soon after the September bombardment ushers itself in with this year's triple-header. Doves do not migrate "to" the desert in winter, but away from it to the hills and upland mesas for the late-ripening feed of the grain fields and the brushy lands.

ALL IN THE NAME.

The National Association of Terpsichorean teachers in Chicago are preparing to spring the "military one-step" on the lance-crazed Americans. The military one-step is not so bad. The military "rag"? Not on your life!

THEY'RE OFF!

The sawdust trail race has started. Nearly 10,000 persons attended the dedicatory exercises in the Billy Sunday tabernacle. If that's a sample of the way the evangelist is going to be received, his show bids fair to have a tremendous run in Los Angeles.

IF THEY ONLY COULD!

A local moving-picture company has presented the city of Los Angeles with four Bedouin racing camels which will be placed in local parks. If the beasts could only be used to carry a part of the burden of taxation which now rests upon the shoulders of the taxpayers!

WHAT'S THE USE?

An explorer recently returned to Hayth Amerton from an expedition into the Arctic regions, declares that the Crocker Land of Admiral Peary was only a mirage. Whatever this new explorer may have to say about his northern trip will probably later be doubted and denied, if not disproved by other explorers. Truly the way of the polar traveler is hard, and all he gets for his trouble is the doubt or ridicule of those who come after him. Finding the end of the world and making people believe it seems to be as difficult as discovering the end of the rainbow. What's the use?

PHOTOS OF WILHELM.

All the photographs of the Kaiser offered for sale now, or even before the war, are military photographs. This is because Mr. Hohenzollern suffers from a crippled arm, and when he is taken in uniform, with his left arm resting on the hilt of the sword, the shadows can be so managed that the deformity of the arm is not seen. There is one photograph of Wilhelm sitting at his desk in his villa in Corfu clad in an American straw hat and a suit to match. "An American straw hat," remarked a critic, "is a poor hiding-place for a divine right halo," and the Kaiser is quite unrecognizable in the garb of peace. He looks like a Calexico farmer meditating on the profits of a melon shipment.

THE UNDYING ONE.

Viscount Ishii, special Ambassador from Japan to America, standing at the tomb of Washington and voicing the loyalty of his countrymen to the cause of the Allies, said that, although the father of this republic was an American, America could lay no exclusive claim to his immortal name. "Washington is now citizen of the world," he said, "and today he belongs to all mankind." What greater compliment could he have paid America or the man whose memory America honors most? Englishmen, Frenchmen, Japanese—great men of all nations—are kneeling at thy tomb today, thou great one, and pledging their honor and their lives to the sacred principles which ruled thy life. By a miracle as marvelous as resurrection thy grave has become the cradle of liberty!

THE SLACKERS' PROGRAMME.

The platform of the Consolidated People's Council of America and the Socialist party, as announced by a committee composed of I Won't Workers and I won't fighters, is as follows:

(a.) No forcible annexations.
(b.) No punitive indemnities.
(c.) Freedom to utter and to print treason, and to raise hell generally.
(d.) Repeal of conscription laws.
(e.) Question of continuing or discontinuing the war with Germany to be submitted to a referendum.
(f.) Right of labor to strike, to riot, to beat non-union laborers to a pulp and dynamite non-union factories to be recognized.
(g.) Entire cost of war to be met by the taxation of wealth.

—But suppose there is no wealth left to tax?

NO BURGFRIEDEN.

Centuries ago in Central Europe it was the custom of rulers who wished to preserve peace and order in a city to declare a truce which was called the Burgfrieden and which prevented the partisans of any faction from obtaining political advantages.

There is at present no Burgfrieden established at Washington. The Republicans are expected to support the administration—as is their patriotic duty—and the administration will continue to support the Democratic party. If there is a Cabinet office or a consulship or a judgeship or a collectorship or a marshalship or a District Attorneyship or a postmastership or a government clerkship or a commissionership or a Federal office of any kind anywhere between Bangor and Key West or between Baltimore and Los Angeles filled by a Republican it is in consequence of an inadvertence.

ITALY'S PART IN THE WAR.

As for the Austrians, the Alps failed them. As for the Alps, the Italians sealed them. Such is the formula of Italy's part in the war. The Italians got into the war a year late; but they are making up for lost time and lost motion. They are now shelling Trieste and that great Adriatic seaport of the Austrians is reported to be on fire. Its fate is undoubtedly sealed. The Italians will no doubt soon have the whole of Trieste; but it is not well to give it to them before they get it. But if the Italians do get Trieste Gen. Cadorna will have an open road on a plain or a plateau to Vienna. The future high school graduate may then be expected to declaim "Beyond the Alps lies Austria!" instead of "Beyond the Alps lies Italy!" as has been his wont since the days of Napoleon.

The Italians have gone about their task methodically—with something like mathematical precision. And here it might be recalled in passing that the Italian school of mathematics is probably better than the German school, especially the "new mathematics" in which five from three is no longer an absurdity and in which the masters say they actually calculate infinity. At the very outset Gen. Cadorna, in charge of operations of the Italian army, addressed himself to the job of "Italia Irredenta"—Italy Unredeemed: which is to say, driving the Austrians and their allied legions from the Adriatic littoral which the Italians claim by right of colonization and development. Gen. Cadorna is now in a fair way to realize his own dream and the dream of United Italy. The how and why are simple enough. He threw his whole force against the Austrians where they were intrenched by their own fortifications and by the Alps on which the Austrians have all along depended to keep the Italians out of Austria. That the Alps have failed them the official dispatches sufficiently attest; and largely because the Italians scaled the mountains.

There was a time when France, if not both France and England, were hoping, if not insisting, that the Italians send part of their land forces to France and the project was under consideration in the Italian Cabinet. Gen. Cadorna vetoed the project with a threat to resign his command rather than divide his force. The wisdom of his strategy is probably now obvious enough in all the capitals of Europe; but at the time it almost caused some misgivings here and there.

The Italians are not only now on Austrian territory and "marching on to complete victory," as dispatches from Rome relate, but they have re-established themselves in the confidence of all the military experts who some time ago were wont to lament that their campaigns against the Abyssinians and the Turks were not all that could be expected of the lineal descendants of the Caesars. The Italians, pitted against the best military organizations in the world, have now proved that they can fight, and fight right. One has noted none of the emotionalism and romance in the Italian movements, maneuvers and war dispatches generally supposed to be characteristics of the Neapolitans and the Florentines; but, on the other hand, he has measured the temperature of a veritable coolness in the calculations of Gen. Cadorna that have netted him the most spectacular victory of the whole war. Gen. Cadorna thus appears as a mathematical personality. He is cold and calculating. He moves with caution. He strikes with certitude. And, if anyone has thought there was an infinity between the date of Italy's entrance into the world war and an Italian military accomplishment, Gen. Cadorna may be said to have calculated that infinity and to have made it a finite thing.

Luckily for the Grand Alliance—luckily also for the entire world—the hour of Italian victory has come at a time when the French have driven the Germans so far from their half-circle of forts and observation towers and hills around Verdun that Verdun is now categorical as the Waterloo of the Kaiser; and at a time also when the Canadians have made Lens, the great coal depot of France, entirely uninhabitable to the Germans, entirely useless to them; and also at a time when the British, still farther to the north, have beaten the Germans to a standstill on the Ypres-Menin road.

The pendulum of the Grand Alliance is swinging in. It had to swing out, some months ago, to get the impetus for the inswing. It is swinging in on the Rhine, on Germany and on Belgium, from which it must drive the Germans forever. Thus on the war map of Europe today we have the fulfillment of the prophecy of Fr. Nietzsche, in his "Book of Prophecies" called "Zarasthustra," that everything that goes up must come down; that all that is down must go up; that all that moves in must move out and vice versa. The war as a futility!

The great mistake of the ruling classes, the autocracy of Germany, is this: that they did not take to heart the preachments of their Nietzsche. If they had done so they would have foregone the struggle. But the truth of the matter is that Nietzsche was always persona non grata with the ruling classes in Germany and anti-Christ to the clergy, both Catholic and Protestant, in the German confederacy.

CONQUERING AMERICA.

The Crown Prince of Germany, who is the greatest furniture thief that the world has ever produced, has announced a programme which he will proceed to carry into effect as soon as the devil claims his own and gives William Hohenzollern a job attending to the furnace fires below.

William would be content with a clear title to Belgium, a large slice of France, the return of all German colonies and German ships and indemnities from all countries. But his sofa-stealing and carpet and curtain-swiping son proposes to go further. He will first conquer France, then England and will then invade Mexico with an immense army with which he will march into and conquer the United States, which latter country he will annex to Germany, after first plundering the banks and safe-deposit vaults of New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, New Orleans, St. Louis and Los Angeles of their contents. He will nominally include San Francisco, but does not expect much from that city, for the insurrectionary element there, inspired by German money and encouraged by the toleration of Mayor Rolph and the active sympathy of the La Follette-Stone-Vardaman-Works Council of Peace, will by that time have driven the money capital of the Bay City into exile in Asia or to hiding in the Sierra Mountains.

A Shadow on Liberty.

THE OLD GUARD.

The stalwart Republicans who style themselves "members of the Old Guard" comprise within their ranks much of the best brains and manliness of the political organization which, in every contest, whether national or local, has stood for good government and for freedom and obedience to law.

The membership of the Old Guard is not limited to old men. It includes middle-aged men and young men, and the latter respond to the Republican call as their fathers and grandfathers did of old, when the bugle call of endangered liberty summoned them to the defense of their country.

The Old Guard do not decline counsel from or refuse co-operation politically with Progressives or Prohibitionists or even Democrats. They support President Wilson more loyally than the Democrats of 1864 supported President Lincoln.

There are a lot of the Old Guard who emulate the example of old John Burns at Gettysburg. He didn't belong to the regular army or to the volunteers or to the militia or the home guard. He just gathered his old brass-buttoned coat across his old patriotic heart and crowded his old bell-crowned beaver upon his old white head and, with his old flint-lock rifle, stood upon the hill and, while regiments of the boys in blue cheered him as they passed, he loaded and fired and loaded and fired and, as he told Gen. Meade, "'Tl' the whole damned Confederate army from dawn to dusk."

"FLEE AS A BIRD—"

Of all the crude devices employed by the slacker contingent to dodge the clear and imperative call of flag and country the flight of three timorous youths to the tall timber of the Angeles forest reserve is the most fatuous and the most fantastic. Not only is such an attempt doomed to failure, but it also entails more hardship and mental unpleasantness on the fugitives than would any honest facing of the draft and its immediate or remote possibilities.

This foolish trio cannot subsist on acorns like the tree squirrel or on roots like the gopher or on berries like the bird. They must take periodical trips back to the haunts of men to procure the necessities of life. Every exit from the mountains is patrolled by forest rangers. The action of the solitude seekers has made them marked men. Were they really consumed with a burning zeal to join the rear ranks of the evaders their chances of success would have been a hundred times greater had they hidden themselves in the most thickly-settled part of the city of Los Angeles.

It seems a pity that three doughty slackers, blessed with sufficient spirit of romance to "flee as a bird to the mountains," should not also have possessed the moral stamina to gratify that spirit by taking part in the greater adventure on which their country has been launched. Their story furnishes a sad example of misdirected energy and reverse ambition.

When Elijah, that grand old prophet of Israel, uttered his heart-weary cry, "Oh, for the wings of a dove, for then would I flee away and be at rest," it was but the momentary impulse of the war-worn fighter of a hundred battlefields. Single-handed this soldier of the Lord had done more to combat the forces of tyranny and to crush the shrines of idolatry than any one mortal being, before or since, in the long story of the struggle for righteousness. And the results seemed so inadequate. So might a Kerensky, a Pershing, a Petain, a Douglas Haig at some darker moment experience the same longing for rest—rest from the endless conflict.

But such men never pause to gratify the passing impulse. They die in harness. So long as there is a King Ahab to be dragged from an evil throne; so long as there is a temple of Baal to be cleansed of its foul form of worship, the Elijahs of the world will be found on the firing line. And these men live—they feel the throb of life as the quitter never can. The three young slackers, seeking to evade the laws of their country by a temporary exile in the heart of the big mountains, may get thrills enough before their adventures are finished—but they will be thrills that bring no satisfaction to the heart. The chances of returning safe and sound from the battle fronts of France are fifteen to one, as carefully computed by army officers; not an excessive risk to run for the satisfaction of having done the right thing, at the right time, in the right way. Moreover—

'Cowards die many times before their death,
The valiant never taste of death but once."

Had Elijah the Tishbite lived in California today he might have gone up to heaven in a chariot of fire somewhere on the battlefields of Europe; he would never have been found slacking it on the wings of a dove anywhere among the remote mountains of the Angeles forest reserve.

DANGER OF POWER.

Is it not time for Congress to call a halt in the enactment of laws investing President Wilson with power and more power and yet more power? "Power and liberty," says Saville, "are like heat and moisture; where they are well mixed, everything prospers; where they are single, they are destructive." President Wilson is bright and brave and far-seeing and often wise. His fault is a too great confidence in himself. He is inebriated with his own individuality. He has the Wilson jim-jams. Colton says: "Power will intoxicate the best hearts, as wine the strongest heads. No man is wise enough nor good enough to be trusted with unlimited power; for, whatever qualifications he may have evidenced to entitle him to the possession of so dangerous a privilege, yet, when possessed, others can no longer answer for him because he can no longer answer for himself."

It is interesting to note that during the last sixty years some of the most distinguished major generals of the regular army started as privates. The way to the stars is open.

At this distance a man with astigmatism cannot tell whether the Russian Bear is coming or going. Sometimes he acts as if he isn't doing anything.

HITS AND MISSES BY OTHER PAPERS.

If the Allies now fail to accede to the suggestions of the Vatican for peace, and we believe that they will certainly take such attitude, the German and Austrian people will be placed face to face with the certainty that they must fight to the end, that the Allies are immovable in their determination to settle the issue once and for all on the field of battle. They will know that the hopes of peace that their leaders have sedulously cultivated are barren and it is not inconceivable that the refusal of the Allies will be followed by suggestions from Berlin or Vienna, most probably the latter, that will mark the beginning of the end.—[Bangor (Me.) Commercial.

No word has been vouchsafed from Washington as yet regarding the disposal to be made of New England troops, but the promotion of Gen. Edwards at this time prompts New Englanders to hope that when his opportunity overseas comes, whether early or late, New England troops will constitute his command.—[Boston Transcript.

Those who, like Mr. La Follette and his followers—wherever they may be found—would have the United States pay an indemnity to Germany for the crimes she has committed have no right to call themselves American. Those who advocate a peace that would be a German peace, a truce in the interest of Prussian militarism, are traitors to Americanism.—[New York Herald.

Fifty per cent. of the men examined by the Raleigh board failed, while every man accepted filed exemption claims. At this rate where are the North Carolina soldiers to come from? But it may not be in the State as it is in Raleigh.—[Charlotte Observer.

The selective draft does not suit the constitution of slackers and their backers, but it will be found to be constitutional all right.—[Raleigh News and Observer.

The I.W.W. has amply demonstarted that it is against the draft, against volunteer enlistment, against the government, against the country. In the mining, wheat-growing and lumber regions of the West and the Northwest, this un-American organization has been making continuous trouble. It doesn't matter whether the I.W.W. is financed by Germany or not—it should be suppressed.—[Baltimore Star.

As to military aid, in point of numbers Russia needs none. But she does need a manifestation of support, and the presence of American troops in Russia would be a most valuable factor in stiffening and encouraging the native forces. The defections that have so nearly wrecked the Russian campaign are apparently under control. Premier Kerensky has performed what is well-nigh a miracle in restoring order after the chaos of wholesale desertions. It will take weeks, maybe months, to bring the Russian army back into perfect discipline. The new found liberty affects the troops as well as the peasants, and the workers, gives them a new concept of their personal rights, and it will be indeed remarkable if the lines hold firmly this summer.—[Washington Star.

Kerensky believes a blood and iron policy is necessary in dealing with malcontents in Russia. Something of the kind might also be used to good advantage in dealing with pacifists and I.W.W. agitators in this country.—[El Paso Times.

Just now when we are hearing so much of the unfavorable side of the draft, it will be well to recall the Liberty bond campaign. Ten days before the closing of the books on that loan failure threatened, according to official forecasts. But the actual results set a new world record for war financing. We have the men as well as the money, and the pending campaign will demonstrate our physical as well as financial resources and patriotism.—[Pittsburgh Gazette Times.

For those who have so much money that they don't know where to invest it, it seems well to mention the fact that another Liberty Loan will be along pretty soon.—[Charleston News and Courier.

On the whole then, in spite of the difficulties which may arise from pastorless churches and from the postponement of direct ministerial service, we are strongly in favor of including all ministers and candidates for the ministry in the general ranks of our common citizenship as men who, no more and no less than others in the nation's emergency, are bound by ties of duty and of gratitude to come to her defense.—[The Congregationalist.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

TO WAR'S CREDIT.

The war has done some good, at least, for it has maimed the foulest beast that ever fed on men; Boose is the hungry monster's name, and governments have kicked its frame again and yet again. The divers governments uprose and said, "If we would swat the foes and knock them galley east, our soldiers must be sober guys, without bad tastes or bloodshot eyes, and so we'll curb the beast. No man is fit to bleed and die who's tanked himself with old red-eye, no soldier should be stewed; and so, if we would hope to win we'll have to put the lid on gin and dill of Boose's brood." We read about the millions slain, of dead men lying in the rain and of war's horrors yawp; but all the dead o'er whom we weep make but a trifling little heap compared with Boose's crop. The governments are kicking Boose with large steel spikes upon their shoes, they slug him with a brick; and Boose is scared and hollow-eyed, he skulks where once he strode in pride, the heart within him sick. The beast is doomed, so let it die; the way has shown the critter why it's neither safe nor sane; so we may view the worldwide fray more patiently, the while, and say, "The war is not in vain." WALT MASON.

THE CULT OF NUDITY.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Your average wholesome citizen protesteth against the cult of nudity. He believes it is an affront to morality. Heavens, man, it isn't morality that is affronted; it's art. Nakedness isn't half as naughty as it is unpleasantly ugly.

What is really hurting me is that the artists have deceived us. For centuries they have given us an ideal of the human form divine that we just simply can't live up to. Not one in a thousand of us, man or woman. And here fashion has calmly decreed that we expose our imperfect beauty, our quite distressing defects from the ideal.

The funny part of it is that we are all quite keenly alive to the other people's defects and permit ourselves a little ironical smile of scorn on the side. But we think our own perapns worth showing, apparently, and seem to rest supremely tranquil that our own charms are an exception to the rule. Hence, when an amiable fashion decrees if our deluded femininity strips to the waist with gay insouciance—and behold our ballrooms a SHRIEKING CONGLOMERATION OF IMPERFECT NAKEDNESS which, as often as not, adds irony to the crime by affixing a tricky little black patch to attract attention to what is evidently regarded as the place de resistance of the exposure! And the gods in Olympus wax hilariously mirthful—what fools these mortals be!

Actually, of course, the only human being who can afford to appear strictly unadorned is a baby. We evidently swaddle our babes in voluminous drapery for fear we should be tempted to eat them. But after the age of 9 or thereabouts the more nakedness they expose the less attractive they become. If all our men were divine Apollos and all our women beauteous Venuses the present naked fashions might reasonably be dangerously seductive. As it is they are merely showing us up for the half-baked, ill-developed, essentially-grotesque creatures we are. THOSE BEACH SIRENS who disport themselves with such lavish exposure on the sands in half a yard of material and a couple of OSTENTATIOUS BREAST PLATES cannot honestly be called alluring. On the contrary. They are merely a pitiful disillusion. Denying themselves the merciful adjunct of mystery-provoking draperies, they stand forth as the quintessence of deluded human vanity. Oh, how those artists have lied!

According to the reformers it is attractive allurement that is immoral. Nakedness is therefore quite awfully moral and nothing could prove quite so salutary to our disenchantment as the abolition of clothes. Who has not gazed upon the prevalent exposed shoulder blades, the brazen crooked chests, the shrieking, unadorned arms, the frankly-displayed legs and marveled that the maid or matron should have so scorned the obvious evidence of her mirror? Not a blessed thing left to the imagination—a wanton flinging away of her last claims to beauty.

It is the same with both sexes. HOW MANY MEN can stand the dreadful test of an inadequate bathing suit? A possible one in a thousand. A lean man, properly garbed in well-fitting clothes, can pass muster for an Adonis oftentimes. But see him in a bathing suit and he is all angles and nobs. A fat man, suitably covered, can present a very creditable appearance. In his bathing suit he is a lump of unlovely creases and bulges—a blob of human flesh. Warm admiration changes to chilly and aloof "respect" with disconcerting celerity after such a revelation—respect that he can cut such a dash in the world in spite of his obvious infirmities. But put either of them into a well-fitting uniform—ah, then indeed do they become dangerously attractive. There is no kinder or more essential art than clothes.

Far from being immorally alluring, nakedness is invariably repellant. Otherwise all our modern respected femininity, since the naked ballroom fashions came in, would be dangerous sirens, indeed. But mamma still has the same old trouble of getting the girls off her hands, no matter how vanishing their gowns. THE CHARM OF MYSTERY has gone, and Psyche's back and chest and arms and legs stand forth in all their unveiled imperfection. Love has to be very blind indeed these days to be left unconscious of their shortcomings.

Who has not marvelled at the delusion of the "classical" dancers of both sexes who expose themselves for our edification. The bare-foot craze has exposed the human foot as an unlovely thing. Centuries of shoes have left their dread mark upon it. And the very dancing itself develops the ball of the foot and the great toe out of all proportion. A little merciful covering and we might have kept our fond illusions. Oh, the stringy-looking masculine foot, with its shrieking sinews! Oh, the distorted female foot, with its knobby joints and its crooked toes! Never in the name of morality can we condemn these things; but ART must moan aloud at the cruel starvation of its ideals.

Let us return to modesty by all means. Not in the cause of morality, but in the cause of art. There is no cruel compulsion to make us expose these imperfections of ours, the very interests of the state demand the contrary. The government of Japan knew what it was about when it made mixed bathing in the nude compulsory as a means to counteract the embarrassment of wealth of population. A little deceptive illusion is essential to attraction. Give us more clothes, dear fashion-makers; send us clothes!

It is evident that Germany believes in advertising. A member of the Root mission states that the Kaiser has spent 48,000,000 roubles for publicity in Russia. That means more than $24,000,000 used to warp Russian democracy and split Russian solidarity. Germany does not seem to have any trouble raising money for spies or cannon. But let us believe that all of the money spent in Russia was thrown away.

How gloriously would the [illegible] supply of this nation be [illegible] if the folks who preach the [illegible] of conservation would only [illegible] their arguments? But they [illegible] and they won't.

One of the big department [illegible] of this city has [illegible] turn a majority of the [illegible] buy. It would be in the [illegible] economy if we reduced the [illegible] of articles that we buy [illegible] changed.

It is now proposed to [illegible] 400 to provide libraries [illegible] two cantonments and [illegible] the soldiers will train in [illegible] try. It is a most worthy [illegible] there ought to be a lot of [illegible] Carter stuff on the shelves.

The name of Metz is [illegible] ing in the daily reports [illegible] seat of war. Remember [illegible] that Bazaine surrendered [illegible] French army at Metz [illegible] crimp in the cause of [illegible] the Franco-Prussian war.

There is nothing in [illegible] that excites so much [illegible] controversy, but the [illegible] perament becomes worse [illegible] wildly dragged out. If [illegible] anything to say say it [illegible] pears to be the disposition.

A restless day will [illegible] of us. It is a mere [illegible] health. The fact is, we [illegible] much meat. It may be [illegible] exigencies of war will [illegible] realize what we should [illegible] selves long ago recognized.

Herbert Hoover has [illegible] a conference with the [illegible] itors of the Middle West [illegible] does the average [illegible] know about a restricted diet [illegible] understands his business [illegible] the fat of the land.

The Texas House of Representatives will prosecute Gov. [illegible] Ferguson on impeachment [illegible] alleging that he misapplied $5500 of State money, [illegible] 1915. It seems to be a [illegible] fight, and a pretty one [illegible] from this distance.

Would it not be the proper [illegible] for the food speculators [illegible] tribute their excess profits [illegible] Red Cross or some other [illegible] charity? It might assist [illegible] ing public sentiment [illegible] plainly against them. They [illegible] pariahs of the country.

The individual who has [illegible] named for Mayor of New York [illegible] Tammany does not seem to be [illegible] erally known in that city. It [illegible] necessary for a Tammany [illegible] to be known. The [illegible] who are known are too [illegible] be candidates for anything.

And in the slacker [illegible] up to the various exemption [illegible] some of the most beautiful [illegible] tions have been furnished [illegible] parents of the youths who [illegible] avoid military service. BY THE STAFF.

By the illness of ex-President Taft, Clay Center, Kan., was placed on the map.

Where is Col. Edward Mandell House in the present crisis? Is it possible that he is a pacifist?

This war is a sort of pay-as-you-enter proposition. Secretary McAdoo wants $5,000,000,000 more.

The apple crop of California is estimated at 1,300,000 barrels. Isn't that a pippin?

The elevator operators in San Francisco demand an increase of pay. Going up?

If fashion decrees trousers for the women what is to become of the newspapers who are now hiding behind the skirts of the sex?

The pretty young women who have failed to qualify in the Civil Comm stakes may secure a job as chaperones at the army cantonments.

Congress is still worrying about the tax bill and every mother's son is in favor of laying the levy on something not produced in his district. Playing politics to the last.

Peace is an excellent thing, but the famous saying that there could be no bad peace has been proved untrue. This war is too big to stop short of its proper sequel.

A shortage of gasoline threatens to curtail motoring. In that case why not inaugurate a movement to make "Home, Sweet Home" the national song?

The government is not original in its suggestion that smaller portions of food ought to be served. The Los Angeles cafeteria people have been quite that scheme for quite a while.

How gloriously would the food supply of this nation be subserved if the folks who preach the doctrine of conservation would only carry out their arguments? But they don't, and they won't.

One of the big department stores of this city has customers who return a majority of the things they buy. It would be in the interest of economy if we reduced the number of articles that we bought and not changed.

It is now proposed to raise $1,000,000 to provide libraries at the thirty-two cantonments and camps where the soldiers will train in this country. It is a most worthy object, but there ought to be a lot of the Andrew Carnegie stuff on the shelves.

The name of Metz is again appearing in the daily reports from the front of war. Remember when the total Russian surrendered his big French army at Metz, and put a ring in the name of the French in the Franco-Prussian war?

There is nothing in this country that excites so much interest as a controversy, but the American interest becomes weary of it if it is widely dragged out. If you have anything to say say it and quit, or leave to be the disposition.

A meatless day will not hurt any of us. It is a move toward good health. The fact is, we all eat too much meat. It may be that the organizers of war will compel us to realize what we should have our selves long ago recognized.

Herbert Hoover has just concluded a conference with the country editors of the Middle West. But what was the average country editor know about a restricted diet? If he understands his business he lives on the fat of the land.

The Texas House of Representatives will prosecute Gov. James E. Ferguson on impeachment charges, having that he misappropriated $20 of State money. August 31, 1915. It seems to be a Democratic fad, and a pretty one as it appears from this distance.

Would it not be the proper thing for the food speculators to use some of their excess profits to the Red Cross or some other worthy charity? It might assist in disarming public sentiment that is now bitterly against them. They are the curses of the country.

The individual who has been mentioned for Mayor of New York by Tammany does not seem to be generally known in that city. It isn't necessary for a Tammany candidate to be known. The Tammanyites who are known are too smart to be candidates for anything.

Among the slacker arguments put up by the various exemption boards one of the most beautiful exhibits have been furnished by the mothers of the youths who seek to escape military service. The patriotism of the Spartan matron who gave her sons to return with their shields or on them seems to have died out.

MUSIC I HEARD.

When I heard with you was never a man music.
I heard I broke with you was more than bread.
Now that I am without you, all music,
Music that was once so beautiful is dead.

Hands once touched this table and this silver,
I have seen your fingers hold this glass.
These things do not remember you, my loved;
Nor yet your touch upon them will pass.

You was in my heart you moved among them,
Blessed them with your hands and with your eyes.
In my heart they will remember always;
They know you once, oh, beloved, and wise!

TAX BILL TO VOTERS.

Limiting Levies is to Referendum.

Court Decision will Mean Extra Expense.

Opinion of Attorney-General Said to be in Error.

Action of the State Supreme Court yesterday, the bill passed by the last Legislature, which limits Supervisors increasing the levy more than 5 per cent the preceding year, is submitted to the people at the next election or at a special election before that time.

This means that the law is submitted to popular approval that in the meantime, its provisions shall remain inoperative. The campaign, which will precede the election in Los Angeles and which will involve considerable expense to taxpayers, was the result of the protests of local taxpayers who claimed that $ increase a year in school levies to be insufficient for enlargements and improvements.

The law was signed by Gov. Johnson on May 17 and was framed by the expert considerations of economists who believed it would be put to possible excessive use by tax-making bodies. The county superintendents, and others launched the movement. By their more than 50,000 names in the campaign were secured.

In allowing the referendum the opinion of Attorney-General Webb, who submitted the case as a test case to determine the question before the taxpayers next Tuesday.

The law creates a State board of equalization, to which all county assessments must be submitted. Mr. Webb and his co-workers in the movement asserted that it would have autocratic

NEAR CHARGES.

Battle to go Thursday into the Allegations Made by an Anonymous Against Land Commissioner.

Charges of "apparent collusion" in the office of the County Assessor will be aired at a meeting by the Board of Supervisors Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. This was on the motion of Supervisor Jones, who wants a thorough investigation.

The charges were made by E. F. Conley, Superintendent of Schools, who claimed he was disturbed by the fact that the first of Mr. Cooke says he has information pointing to mismanagement of the office.

In a report to the board Conley says the charges are untrue. This report, presented to the Supervisors, is a resume of what has already been published.

SMILE AFTER TEARS.

Mother Weeps When She Thinks She is Forbidden to Take Daughter East; Beams When She Finds Her Interpretation of Court Order Wrong.

"The best interests of the child demand that the order be granted," said Judge Hewitt yesterday in the petition of Mrs. Dorothy E. Miller for a modification of the order of Judge Wood, in her divorce proceedings, with reference to her daughter, Shirley Elizabeth Miller, 4 years old.

Mrs. Miller burst into tears. She believed the court had refused to permit her to take Shirley to Baltimore for nine months to pursue her education. But a whispered word from Attorney Degman, her counsel, chased the tears from her eyes, and she left the court-room laughing.

Mrs. Miller, the daughter of wealthy parents living in Baltimore, was granted a divorce by Judge Wood more than a year ago. The final decree separating her from Edwin S. Miller, a real estate broker, on the ground of cruelty, was entered several months ago. The order of the court awarding Shirley into her custody contained the provision that the child should not be taken from the State for a longer period than six weeks.

Mr. Miller, in court with Attorney Hickox, opposed the petition of his ex-wife to take the child away for nine months.

HANDWRITING EXPERT RECALLS FORMER ARRESTS.

Complaint on Check Charge is Issued for Man Who Figured in Old Case in Which a Suspect Blinded Himself Because of an Accusing Conscience.

ba tanthI. te?o-torneyer emfwyp x

A complaint was issued by the District Attorney yesterday against J. H. Cullen, charged with issuing a fictitious check. When the check was shown to Milton Carlson, handwriting expert, by Capt. Austin of the District Attorney's office, Mr. Carlson recalled having seen similar handwriting on other fictitious checks.

Turning to his exhibits Mr. Carlson identified the indorsement of J. H. Cullen on the check and newspaper files refreshed his memory of the arrest of Cullen, A. J. Heinz, O. S. Moon, J. S. Angell, Robert Barry and T. D. Hawkins five years ago.

Shortly after his arrest Heinz, suffering with remorse, gouged out one eye and destroyed the sight of another. It was learned that he was the relative of a wealthy capitalist and that he attempted to destroy himself rather than inflict disgrace on his kin. Hawkins was an Oxford graduate.

The check Cullen is alleged to have drawn was on the Glendale Savings Bank, for $8, signed George H. Thomas and cashed at the Grand Pacific Hotel, a few days ago.

LAND PRICES RISE AS DRILLS SINK.

OIL PROSPECTING DRAWS EYES TO BELVEDERE HEIGHTS.

Amalgamated Company is Putting Down a Test Well and There is a Scramble to Lease or Buy Property Adjacent to that on Which the Rig is Located.

Property in the Belvedere Heights district is booming. The quest for oil in that locality is the reason for the sudden advance in prices. The Amalgamated Oil Company has a drill at work on the hillside at the end of Townsend street, and the bit has gone down 200 feet in four days.

During the past week some acreage in that locality has been leased by the Amalgamated Oil Company, and there has been a scramble to lease or buy land contiguous to that upon which the company is drilling the test well. The expectation of the drillers in that they will strike oil at a depth of about 3000 feet.

Prospecting for oil in the Belvedere district is the outgrowth of the belief of oil men that oil-bearing land lies in the territory reaching all the way from Lincoln Park to Whittier. The range of hills extending through that territory includes Belvedere, Montebello, Puente and Whittier. Drilling for oil has been in progress in the Montebello district for several months and the indications are said to be favorable.

LAW CUTS BOTH WAYS.

Man in Army or Navy Should have Same Postponement Privilege as Legislator, Federal Judge Rules, in Granting Continuance.

United States District Judge Trippet ruled yesterday that an attorney who has enlisted in the army or navy should have the same protection as a member of the Legislature in the matter of the postponement of cases.

The issue arose when a motion was made in Judge Trippet's court that the hearing of the case brought by the North American Dredging Company against the city of San Diego be postponed for at least six months, because Eugene Overton, one of the counsel of the complainant, is in the navy, and cannot appear.

City Attorney Cosgrove argued against any further postponement but Judge Trippet asserted that, as the Legislature had seen fit to enact a law allowing an attorney to postpone the hearing of a case, if called to sit as a member of the State body, an equal privilege ought to be extended to a lawyer who is called to the colors. So a postponement was allowed.

SEA SCHOOL GETS PERMANENT HOME.

BOARD OF EDUCATION COMES PATRIOTICALLY TO FORE.

Government Navigators Claim, for Some Time Floundering for Quarters at the Harbor, will Hold its Sessions in a Fifth-street Temple of Learning.

The Board of Education came to the rescue of the government last night and provided it with quarters in which to conduct its free school of navigation at the harbor.

Several weeks ago the government authorized the establishment of the school and placed F. J. Neubauer, Ph. D., in charge as instructor. The school had considerable difficulty in finding a home. Through the activity of the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce it was finally located in the Masonic Temple, but not permanently.

Word came to Instructor Neubauer that the government would provide books, instruments, supplies and instructors, but that it expected the city to provide suitable quarters, in order to do its share in the war.

Being faced with the necessity of securing room to teach at least thirty students, Instructor Neubauer appealed to the Los Angeles Board of Education for room in one of the city schools. The board referred the matter to Supt. Shiels, with power to act, and he announces that he will give the school of navigation space in the Fifth-street school at the harbor.

Girl to Herd Sheep.

[Spokane Dispatch:] The theories of the classroom applied to the practical world is the system of education being pursued by Theresa Tromp, a senior of the University of Washington, who is spending a few days here. She resides at Lyndon, Wash.

Some of the experiences which Miss Tromp has sought in order to test her theories of philosophy have been obtained in the Insane Hospital at Medical Lake, where she was employed for a few weeks as an attendant. Having finished her observations there, the young student will proceed to North Yakima—where she expects to herd sheep.

"I am going to devote my summer to all sorts of strange experiences in order to test out my theory of philosophy," said Miss Tromp.

BEARS AGAIN AGGRESSIVE, WHILE PRICES FALL BACK.

Shippings and Tobaccos Furnish Much of the Market's Stability.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Part of last week's late rally in the stock market was surrendered today, the bears again assuming an aggressive position on the continued uncertainty attending government price control.

The Russian situation also militated against bullish initiative, rubles falling to 20¼, the lowest quotation yet recorded, with irregularity in remittances to other of the Allies' countries.

General firmness marked the early dealings, but prices fell back on the exhaustion of short coverings. Conflicting reports concerning Bethlehem Steel's financial plan started a setback in industrials of 1 to 5 points. United States Steel reacted from 122 to 120¾, closing at 120¾, a net loss of ⅝ of a point.

Other equipments and war issues as a whole also pursued an uneven course and rails soon parted with their moderate gains of the first hour. Early activity in a few of the pooled shares was abandoned when public interest in those issues failed to materialize.

Shippings and tobaccos furnished much of the day's stability, Marines, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies, as well as United Cigar Stores and Tobacco Products, advancing 1 to 2½ points. These gains were substantially reduced or wholly lost, however, in the drooping trend of the later dealings.

Total sales, 295,000 shares.

Impending payments to the Liberty loan and the next offering of treasury certificates accounted for the 3 per cent. call money rate and the greater scarcity of time accommodations.

The bond market was irregular on limited trading, Liberty 3½s holding steady at 99.90 to 99.96. Total sales, par value, aggregated $1,945,000. United States bonds, old issues, were unchanged on call.

PRODUCE MARKET.

[illegible] of fancy new-crop Honduras head rice are being received from New Orleans, and some have reached Los Angeles. But so far no orders have been taken by jobbers. These first lots are a premium, and the price in New Orleans today is $7.50 per [illegible]; the market is expected to settle to a practical basis in a few days and probably by next week will be made up for shipment to California. This should arrive in thirty days or possibly sooner. The crop of rice in the South is considerably below that of last year, but the California output is doubled. When the southern mills begin to move on a large scale it is believed that prices for rice will break, despite the small crop. [illegible] the American Can Company that tuna packers that tin are running short and that for [illegible] they would have to discontinue making deliveries of cans to the canneries. Have some [illegible] and it is said that [illegible] run a week anyway on [illegible], but some of them may [illegible] down for a few days. [illegible] on the part of the American Company indicates that the [illegible] has been decidedly successful, for a great many more cans [illegible] required so far than had [illegible] earlier in the year. Most of the fishing [illegible] the canneries are working [illegible] of San Diego.

Bizarre.

BOY IS GIVEN A LEGAL NAME.

Court Solves Knotty Puzzle of Lad's Identity.

Then Denies His Custody to Both His "Fathers."

Woman Who Gets Him will Ask for Adoption Papers.

The triangle fight for the establishment of the identity of 5-year-old Edward Gilham-Enos and for his custody was completed in Superior Judge Shenk's court yesterday when Mrs. Lila Currier was allowed the custody and it was established that the child is the son of Edward Gilham of Chicago, and will in future bear the name Edward Gilham, Jr.

The case has been on trial in Judge Shenk's court for several days and has caused considerable speculation as to which of the men contesting is the father.

The court rules that the claim of Edward Enos, a merchant of Bouse, Ariz., who contended he contracted a common-law marriage with Cordelia Robertson, also known as Mrs. Enos and as Mrs. Gilham, was not legal because they had not lived together for one year, the legal period constituting common-law marriage.

The woman, prior to her death in January, 1915, was virtually the wife of both men, the evidence showed, though she was the legal spouse of only one.

Mrs. Currier will file a petition within a short time, it is understood, for the adoption of the boy. She won her case because it was not shown that either of the men had contributed to the boy's support since the death of the mother.

OIL AGENCY TO BE ASSAILED TODAY.

FIFTH OF SERIES OF SUITS WILD BE FILED.

Security Development Company Seeks to Cancel Arrangement with Independent Producers and Union Oil Because of Alleged Failure of Selling Agreement.

Attorneys Albert L. Black and D. S. Hammack are to file in the Superior Court of Kern county at Bakersfield today a suit to cancel the agency of the Independent Oil Producers' Agency and the Union Oil Company for the Security Development Company. The Security Development Company in the same suit will ask for an accounting of the business done since January 1, 1916.

The suit is brought on the allegation that the two agencies have not been true to their trusts. It is alleged that the agencies have loaned hundreds of thousands of barrels of their oil to their competitors, or to big consumers, without requiring suitable security. The plaintiff sets forth that in loaning oil, as it is alleged they did, the defendants have been derelict in their duties.

The plaintiff, it is said, is receiving but 50 cents per barrel for oil at this time, although the price for oil in the field is 95 cents. According to the terms of the agency contract, it is alleged, the defendants were to sell all the oil, retain 10 per cent. of the revenue and turn the remainder of the money over to the plaintiff.

This suit is the fifth of its kind filed by oil producers in the Midway field. All the cases are pending. The contract in this particular case runs to 1920. In case the agencies should be cancelled it would affect the sale of at least 250,000 barrels of oil under this one contract, according to the plaintiff's attorneys.

TO LAY PLANS TO HONOR LAFAYETTE.

BIRTHDAY COMMITTEE IS TO MEET THIS MORNING.

Neither Time Nor Money will be Spared to Make a Success of the Celebration September Sixth, Especially in View of America's Alliance with France.

The committee in charge of arrangements for the Lafayette birthday celebration, which is to be conducted at Exposition Park the afternoon of September 6 at 3 o'clock, will meet this morning at 10 o'clock in the rooms of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, 515 Wilcox Building, to consider plans for the programme.

Because of the sentiment growing out of the affiliation of the United States with France in the world war, the nation will celebrate Lafayette's birthday in every city and village this year. The local committee is anxious to make the Los Angeles celebration a great success, and neither time nor money will be spared in accomplishing this result.

A group of prominent citizens has been placed in charge of the plans for the celebration. William A. Spalding is chairman of the general committee, and Hector Alliot of the programme committee. E. L. Doheny is chairman of the finance committee.

The programme and entertainment committee consists of Charles S. Gilbert, Willis S. Booth, George J. Denis, Gen. C. H. Whipple, George P. Robinson, Charles R. Fletcher, Charles Wensel, William H. Knight, Alvin H. Low, Louis Sentous, Jr., and Hector Alliot.

On the finance committee are E. L. Doheny, Stoddard Jess, Motley Flint, J. H. Fishburn, Perry Woldner, Marco Hellman, Arthur Houghton, Dr. C. F. Cahen and William H. Spalding.

as outlined in the President's letter to Secretary of War Baker, will not make a great deal of difference in the work already done by the local boards, according to George J. Denis, chairman. It will have a tendency to modify the pocedure that the district board had mapped out, but, on the whole, according to Seth R. Brown, secretary, will not materially change the general results. A few men certified probably will be exempted, but, as the boards have hewn pretty close to the line, no great number will be recalled.

There was a slight disagreement between Robert M. Shearer, secretary of local board No. 17, and George Denis, its chairman, last night. Mr. Denis voiced objections to Mr. Shearer's methods of dealing with men who have come before him. Threats of resignations were made by both men, but Gail B. Johnson finally smoothed matters over and the board's work will go on as before.

This board has made a remarkable record. The members have worked on an average of fifteen hours a day and have handled over 2500 men. The board has had the largest alien registration of any board in the city, and the handling of these cases, which has been under the charge of Mr. Denis, has been exceedingly trying.

GOT A SMOKE FOR SAMMY?

Picture Theaters Collecting Cigarettes for Army.

Part of a National Campaign Aided by Factories.

Total Over Country will be Fully Million Daily.

Los Angeles motion-picture theater managers are the first of this country to introduce the collection of cigarettes for the boys in the trenches and training camps along the plan long practiced in England. Last Sunday glass goldfish jars made their appearance in all the lobbies of downtown theaters. Near each was the sign: "Men! Drop in a cigarette for the boys in the trenches! If you haven't one, drop in a penny; it will buy one."

This plan is to be followed throughout the nation, and it is estimated that more than 1,000,000 cigarettes can be collected in this way daily, for there are more than 16,000 theaters in the country. The campaign is being conducted by the Motion Picture News, a weekly trade magazine of New York, with offices in Los Angeles. The cigarettes will be packed and shipped to New York, and from there will be distributed by the committee of the Y.M.C.A. in charge of this work. The West Coast campaign is being conducted by J. C. Jessen, Pacific Coast manager of the trade magazine.

Los Angeles theater patrons warmly welcomed the opportunity to help add comforts to the soldier boys, and it was not unusual Sunday for men to throw in the entire contents of the package they carried. In some instances women purchased boxes to contribute, and children dropped in their pennies. Miller's Theater was one of the first to put the plan into operation, and the jar had to be emptied in less than four hours. Al Levy, Jr., a Southern California cigarette man, learned of the intention of theater managers, and started off each bowl with a good-sized deposit.

"People who visited my theater were glad of the opportunity to help the soldier boys," Frederick Miller, manager of Miller's Theater, said yesterday in discussing the movement. "There is nothing that can be sent to the front that will be more welcome than good cigarettes."

Seymour Tally of Tally's Broadway, who does not smoke, has started a collection at that theater with the resolution that he will place in the glass jar each day as many smokes as he would consume if he were a habitual smoker. J. A. Quinn of the Rialto has arranged for a brief announcement to be made at the beginning of each performance concerning the national collection of cigarettes by a soldier, and Harry P. Caulfield of the Garrick, urged patrons of the theater to give freely by the use of stereopticon slides projected on the screen, which contained appropriate statements. Dr. Harry Breckwedell of the Palace Theater found it would be better to have two jars, so patrons would not have a chance to overlook an opportunity, either coming or going.

If wagers made between Al Nathan of the Superba and Edward O'Neil of Clune's Broadway are contagious, keen rivalry will result. They made a bet as to who would secure the greatest number of smokes during the first three days the jars are in the lobbies. This bet has caused the suggestion to be made that a contest be conducted among the several downtown houses.

It is estimated the theaters of the country can and will collect more than 1,000,000 cigarettes daily by this plan, and this amount, with the supply now received daily from English, French and American manufacturers, will be sufficient to meet the present needs of the soldiers at the front.

WOULD MANAGE ESTATE.

Sister of Late Long Beach Woman Asks Administration Letters.

A petition for letters of administration in the $30,000 estate of the late Mrs. Annie E. Replogle, of Long Beach, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Mrs. D. C. Hoover, sister of the deceased.

Mrs. Replogle died at Long Beach July 19, last, and left no will. There are several relatives, the closest being the petitioner.

RELEASE MEXICANS.

Andres Gordana, Angel Gastello Miguel Canez and L. Coralles, four Mexican beet cutters, who were arrested Sunday on suspicion of being slackers, were ordered released from custody yesterday by Assistant United States District Attorney Lawson. A short investigation convinced the Federal official that the four men were part of the contingent recruited below the line to assist in the beet fields of this and adjoining counties.

To Draft Gas Ordinance.

The City Council yesterday instructed City Attorney Stephens to draft an ordinance providing that all the gas companies must supply natural gas for both domestic and industrial consumers. The action followed the introduction of a resolution by Councilman Criswell. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 4 to 2.

BIDS OPENED FOR BIG PAVING JOB.

FIRST-STREET IMPROVEMENT NOW NEAR AT HAND.

Estimated Cost Approximates a Quarter Million Dollars—Grading Necessitates Removal of Hundred Thousand Cubic Yards of Earth.

Bids for the contract to improve First street from Lake Shore avenue to Virgil avenue were opened yesterday by the Board of Public Works. George Oswald's bid of 22½ cents per square foot for paving and grading was the lowest. There were four other bidders, one of them being as high as 27 cents per square foot.

It is estimated that the total cost will be approximately $230,000, making the proposed improvement one of the biggest street-paving jobs let by the city in several years. Th bids were referred to the City Engineer for investigation, and the contract will probably be let during this week.

The surface of the street must be of bitulithic composition. A total of 110,000 cubic yards of dirt must be removed to make the specified grade.

For New City Jail.

The United Improvement Association yesterday sent a communication to the Council approving the suggestions of Mayor Woodman and Chief Butler for the building of a new City Jail. The association also favors maintenance of the Home Gardens Committee.

City Hall Briefs.

The Board of Public Works yesterday asked the Council for sufficient money to place a skylight in the Temple Block. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The City Attorney reported that he is working on ordinances for the annexation of the West Coast and Tejunga districts.

Until the Council chamber is remodeled the Council will hold its regular sessions in the room now occupied by the Harbor Commission.

COURT'S DECISION BARS OTHER WOMAN.

GRANDMOTHER TAKES HAND IN FIGHT OVER CHILDREN.

As Result of Her Protests, Judge Rules Policeman Must not Leave Offspring with Landlady—Wife Tells of Husband's Alleged Amours with Others.

Robert C. Combs, a policeman, who is alleged to have boasted to his wife of soul kisses with other women, may see his children and take them out at reasonable times, but he must not permit the children to be with Mrs. Ruby L. Jones while he has them in his care.

When Judge Avery gave his decision yesterday, granting the temporary custody of the children to Mrs. Lilliam A. Combs, the grandmother arose among the spectators and protested against the youngsters being taken to the home of Mrs. Jones, where Combs boards, she asserted. It was as a result of this protest that the court made the order regarding the alleged other woman.

Combs was ordered to pay $45 a month for the support of his wife and children. The action for divorce was brought by Mrs. Combs.
